The Eastern War.

LATEST PHASE OF THE NEGOTIATIONS—THE MAINTENANCE OF THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE—THE SERVIAN CABINET DIFFICULTY—AN EXTRAORDINARY COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

LONDON, October 28.—The article published in an official form in this morning's Post, explanatory of the latest phase of the negotiations on the Eastern question, a portion of which was sent to the United States, also says: If an armistice is agreed upon then comes the question of a conference. Russia objects to Turkish participation therein. It may be assumed that this refers solely to the position of a power deliberating on its own case. Obviously if six Powers meet to discuss recommendations to be made to a seventh, there is something anomalous in giving the latter the casting vote in their decisions, but it is impossible for a moment to consent to the exclusion of Turkey from the European system, of which, in view of the Treaty of Paris, she forms a part. It ought to be practicable to find a method by which a representative of the Porte may sit in a conference so as to obviate the difficulty. Before a conference is summoned, the questions of its basis and objects, which might occasion protracted and dangerous debate, should by unanimous agreement be reduced to the simplest terms, which may be stated thus: The basis of the conference is the maintenance of the independence and integrity of the Ottoman Empire; the object is the amelioration of the condition of the Christian subjects of the Sultan; this basis could not alarm Turkey, regarding her sovereign rights; this object is one which Russia professed alone to have in view. We are not without foundation for the hope that the solution here foreshadowed may be happily effected. The Pall Mall Gazette, in a leading article to-day, takes quite a hopeful view of the peace prospects.

A dispatch from Vienna to the Times states that Prince Auersperg's reply in the Reichsrath, yesterday, to the interpellations on the Eastern question is not satisfactory. There will probably be an animated debate on the subject in that body.

The Servian Cabinet difficulty is in a fair way of being settled. It is probable that M. Nicolich will consent to retain the portfolio of Minister of War.

An extraordinary council of ministers was held in Constantinople on Thursday to consider the armistice question. The German, Russian, Austrian and Italian Ambassadors conferred together on Friday. General Ignatieff, the Russian Ambassador, will have an interview with the Sultan to-day.

The Times says: The question of peace or war seems still to depend almost entirely on the will of Russia. If she feels that she has more to gain by fighting now than by waiting for the spring there can be little doubt we shall have a winter campaign on the Danube; but if, on the other hand, her preparations are not complete the negotiations will probably result in an armistice.

SUCCESS OF THE MONTENEGRINS.

RAGUSA, October 28.—Dervish Pasha has withdrawn from Podgoritza to the Groudy district in the rear of Palatka. The surrender of Medun to the Montenegrins has produced a strong impression in Albania. The Montenegrins have liberated the Albanian prisoners taken during the recent fighting.

THE SEAT OF WAR—SELF-WOUNDING AMONG THE SERVIANS.

LONDON, October 28.—A Times dispatch from Belgrade confirms the statement that self-wounding is again becoming frequent among the Servians. The dispatch says: During the fight at Krevet a distinguished officer brought half of a Russian battalion to the front, saying he was compelled to leave the other half behind to prevent the Servians from running away.

The news from the scene of action is very meager. With regard to the recent battle near Delegrade a telegram from the Minister of the Interior at Deligrad to Prime Minister Ristics, in reply to an inquiry, says the Turks have not taken Djunis.

RUSSIA FAVORS PACIFICATION—PRECARIOUS POSITION OF THE SERVIAN ARMY.

LONDON, October 30.—A telegram from Paris says that private advices from Constantinople represent that the French and German Ambassadors have received instructions to support the proposal for a six weeks' armistice.

A special from Berlin declares that the tripple alliance cannot be shaken, and adds that in the event of a conference Russia will energetically uphold therein the programme of pacification originated by England.

A Belgrade dispatch reports that General Tchernayeff has ordered the inhabitants to evacuate Delegrade. An eye witness just arrived from Delegrade describes the position of Tchernayeff's army as follows: The center, under Depregratovich, occupies the heights of Djunis; the right, under Horvatorich, is behind Schliegovater, and the left, under Popovich, occupies Alexintez. On the whole the Servian army is in a very precarious position.

MILITARY OPERATIONS STOPPED—ACCIDENT TO GENERAL TCHERNAYEFF—THE CAPTURE OF DJUNIS—THE PORTE ACCEPTS THE ARMISTICE WITHOUT CONDITIONS.

LONDON, October 30.—A dispatch to the Standard, dated Nisch, Saturday, reports that all operations on the part of the Turks have been stopped since Monday. Rain prevents the troops from marching.

A Belgrade telegram to the Standard says: General Tchernayeff fell from his horse and is confined to his bed. He seems to be apprehensive of disaster, and has warned the inhabitants of all the villages in the rear of Delegrade to leave. The state of the Servian army is indiscribably distressing. No force has undergone such suffering since the retreat from Moscow.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times telegraphs that General Ignatieff, at a private audience, has informed the Sultan that if the armistice were accorded Russia would be content to submit the question of antonomy to a conference of the Powers. The correspondent remarks that Russia certainly wants to exclude Turkey from the conference, but as Austria is likely to persist in opposing any conference at all, this part of Russia's proposals probably will not much embarrass Turkey.

The Times' Belgrade telegram confirms the report that General Tchernayeff has been disabled. It points to the orders for non-combatants to quit Delegrade and neighborhood is exceedingly significant.

The Times' dispatch from Vienna explains the contradictions concerning the capture of Djunis. It says the position at Djunis consists of a series of entrenchments along the Djuniskar stream, the key of which is two large redoubts to the north of Djunis. These were taken on the 23d instant. There may be some positions further on which the Servians still hold and which they consider as beloning to Djunis.

A telegram to the Times, dated Vienna, Sunday, says information received there directly from Constantinople shows there is still a sensible difference between the Russian and Turkish proposals for an armistice, Turkey wishing to make the prolongation certain if peace is not concluded within the original term, and Russia only admitting the possibility of a prolongation.

A Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says he is informed that the Sultan has accepted the armistice without conditions.

RUMORS OF A RESUMPTION OF HOSTILITIES IN SERVIA.

LONDON, October 30.—The Daily Telegram's Belgrade dispatch contains a sensational statement that a Russian force, with the consent of Germany and Austria, and the co-operation of Roumania, will enter Servia and that operations will probably commence to-day.

A telegram to the Daily News from Belgrade announces that General Tchernayeff has recovered and is expected in Belgrade, when some decisive action is looked for involving a change of Ministry and a direct appeal to Russia for active intervention.

THE ARCTIC EXPEDITION—IMPRACTICABILITY OF REACHING THE NORTH POLE.

LONDON, October 28.—Captain Nares, commander of the Arctic expedition, has sent a telegram to the Admiralty, announcing his return. His dispatch contains only the following additional particulars of the voyage: "The Polar Sea is never navigable. The ordinary ice averages eighty feet in thickness. Animal life and the northerly migration of birds ends south of Cape Colombia. A memorial tablet was erected to Captain Hall, of the Polaris expedition, at Polaris Bay. Esquimaux traces cease on the west shore in latitude 80° 52', whence they cross to Greenland. The impracticability of reaching the North Pole was proved. All the neighboring lands were examined." The telegram confirms all the details of the expedition transmitted to the United States in yesterday's and last night's dispatches.

The expedition brought home a specimen of wheat deposited by the American steamer Polaris while on her Arctic voyage.

LONDON, October 30.—A narrative of the Arctic expedition is published. It states that after first encountering ice, the expedition was detained several days in Port Payer. It started thence on August 8th, but before reaching the shore of Grinnell Land the vessels were caught in an ice pack. After this their progress northward was an incessant struggle through chance openings, made in the ice by the wind and current, the channel through which the ships moved constantly closing behind them. The Discovery wintered in a well sheltered harbor on the west side of Hall's Basin, a few miles north of Polaris Bay. The Alert pushed forward and rounded the northeast point of Grant's Land, but instead of finding as expected a continuous coast a hundred miles toward the north, she found herself on the border of an extensive sea, with impenetrable ice on every side and no harbor. The ship wintered behind a barrier of grounded ice. The floating masses of thick Polar ice had in meeting pressed up quantities of intermediate ice into blocks, frequently a mile in diameter and varying in height from ten to fifty feet. Obstacles of this kind destroyed all hope of reaching the Pole by sledges. Before the attempt was made the sledge party was obliged to make a road with pickaxes nearly half the distance it traveled. As it was always necessary to drag the sledge loads by instalments, the party really traversed two hundred and seventy-six miles, although it only progressed seventy-three. All the cairns erected by the Polaris expedition were visited. At the boat depot in Newmans Bay a chronometer was found in perfect order. Wheat left by the Polaris was successfully grown aboard the ship. When at Polaris Bay the Discovery hoisted the American flag and fired a salute, as a frozen tablet with the following inscription was fixed on the grave of Captain Hall: "Sacred to the memory of Captain Hall, of the Polaris, who sacrificed his life in the advancement of science. This tablet is erected by the British Polar expedition, who following his footsteps have profited by his experience." Two sailors of the Greenland sledge party were buried near Captain Hall's grave. The sufferings of the sledge parties from scurvy were frightful. The expedition under Markham and Parr, which endeavored to reach the Pole, consisted of seventeen persons. Nine became utterly helpless and had to be carried on sledges. Three could barely walk and were unable to render assistance.

Italy.

ANOTHER BIG GUN TESTED.

LONDON, October 28.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Spezia which says that the trials of the hundred ton Armstrong gun made for the Italian Government were eminently successful. A bolt fired with three hundred and forty-one pounds of powder attained a velocity of 1,500 feet per second, smashed solid wrought iron plates twenty-two inches thick, completely pierced the strong backing and thirty-inch skin of a taget, the resistance of which is supposed to equal the sides of the great Italian ironclad Duilio, and had enough velocity remaining to have smashed the other side of the ship, and would have carried complete ruin into her interior. An equal charge completely demolished soft steel plates of Schneider manufacture, but did not penetrate the backing, though it is stated the shock would have so shaken the structure of a vessel like the Duilio as to cause a leak. The heaviest blow of the bolt equaled 31,250 foot tons.

Germany.

COMPLETE ELECTION RETURNS.

BERLIN, October 28.—Complete returns of the election for the Prussian Chamber of Deputies held yesterday give the following result: National Liberals, 177; Center Party, 86; Progressists, 66; the various Conservative sections, 70; Poles, 15; Particularists, 5, and 14 of no declared party. The result does not materially alter the political attitude of the Chambers.

India.

BETTER ACCOUNTS FROM THE DISTRESSED DISTRICTS.

LONDON, October 30.—The Times' dispatch from Calcutta says accounts from the distressed districts of Bombay are somewhat better. The Collector of Nassick does not anticipate an actual famine. There has been some rain in Dharwar, but no improvement is reported in Sholapore or Poona. Belgoun is also in distress. Great suffering already exists in Sholapore, where cattle are selling at a few pence, each on account of lack of water. Reports from Madras are also gloomy.

DEMOCRATIC DISHONESTY.

Stupendous Frauds Attempted—Desperate Attempt to Violate the Election Laws in Philadelphia—Fifty Thousand Fraudulent Tax Receipts Prepared—The Ringleader Arrested—All the Papers in the Hands of the Police.

PHILADELPHIA, October 29.—The police last night captured paper for issuing 50,000 bogus tax receipts in this city in the hands of two prominent members of the Democratic party. It seems that a few days ago Hon. Christian Kneass, Chairman of the Republican City Committee, to whom the credit for unearthing this great fraud is due, was informed that the Democracy intended to flood the city with bogus tax receipts, but that the greatest trouble was to procure paper with the water marks "Personal tax, 1876," on it. At last the paper was obtained, and to-night, while the rank and file of the party were giving General McClellan, of moth powder fame, a reception, a wagon came out of Griswold's alley, near Sixth and Bainbridge streets, in the Fourth ward. This was followed by Detective Harry Weyle. The carriage was driven to the headquarters of the Democratic State Central Committee, No. 1,014 Walnut street. Here Henry Marcus, ex-member of the City Council from the Fourth ward, alighted. Soon Samuel Josephs, a leader of the Democracy, and candidate for the Legislature in the Twenty-eighth district appeared. In a short time Marcus and Josephs appeared, coming from the headquarters each carrying a large bundle. The bundles were placed in a carriage, and Marcus got in. Josephs went up Walnut street. Detective Weyle and a couple of officers followed in another carriage, and on Locust street, below Tenth, overhauled the carriage containing the bogus receipts. The party were driven to police headquarters, where it was found that it was a great capture, the receipts having the required water mark, and could not be detected from the genuine. Marcus was given a hearing, and held in $5,000 bail for violating the election laws. A warrant was issued for Josephs, and he will be arrested before morning. The driver of the carriage said the receipts were to be taken to the printing house of Gilleen & Nagle, in Fifth street, below Walnut. This capture prevents the consummation of the greatest fraud which had ever been attempted here, and shows where the party of reform intended to get their votes.

Hurricane in the West Indies.

NEW ORLEANS, October 28.—Captain Bremner, of the steamship Chilian, from Kingston, Jamaica, reports the severest hurricane ever experienced at Grand Caymans Island, lasting from the 17th to the 21st. One hundred and seventy houses, and a large number of fruit trees were destroyed. A portion of the island was submerged, and a large number of cattle washed away. The inhabitants are in a destitute condition, having lost all their provisions. All the provisions that could be spared from the Chilian were given them. Captain Bremner reports that he boarded the Norwegian bark Niard, from Porto Rico for New Orleans, with fifty-five bags of coffee, which was wrecked during the hurricane at Grand Caymans. The vessel was badly wrecked, and the cargo entirely washed out. The bodies of three of the crew were found; two alongside, and one on board the bark. It was learned from the islanders that the bark's papers had been taken possession of by a magistrate. Nothing could be learned of the fate of the balance of the crew.

FIRE SUMMARY.

The loss by the burning of the Fort Stanwix Knitting Mill Friday night, at Rome, New York, was sixty thousand to seventy thousand dollars. Partially insured.

A fire on the estate of W. E. Baker, at Wellsley, Mass., destroyed the white porcelain building and a large quantity of valuable plants. Loss $6,000; insurance $1,000.

The car, machine and carpenter shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company at Great Bend, Penn., were burned Saturday night. Loss about $12,000.

A house and barn in Fall River, Mass., owned by Thomas Healey, with their contents, were destroyed by fire on Saturday morning. The loss is estimated at $2,000; insured. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

The grand stand, judges' stand, poultry house, sheds and fencing of the fair grounds leased by the Louisiana Jockey Club, were destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. The main exhibition building was also considerably damaged. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

TELEGRAPHIC PERSONALS.

Hills & Haven, furniture dealers, Watertown, N. Y., have failed. Their liabilities are $23,000, and assets probably $12,000.

W. E. DeLong, of Chattanooga, won the diamond championship badge at the shooting match at Montgomery, Ala., Saturday.

George William Birney and his son Arthur, Birney have been appointed attorney and assistant attorney for the District of Columbia.

Sig. Ferdinand De Lucca, Italian consul at New York, was serenaded Saturday evening by the Italian residents of New York.

The jury in the libel suit of McKay against the publishers and editors of the Philadelphia Times was discharged Saturday afternoon, having been locked up for just one week. They were no nearer an agreement than when they first retired.

A NATION LIBELED.

Outrageous Attack Upon the Centennial Exposition.

Slanderous Letter from the French Commissioner Published in the Paris "Figaro"—A Sharp Refutation from Marquis De Talleyrand—Disavowal of the Slanderous Assertions.

PARIS, October 28.—The American colony resident here is greatly exercised over the publication of a letter written to a friend in Germany by M. DuSommerard, chief of the French Commission to the Centennial Exposition. The letter is summarized as follows: "Accounts transmitted to me from my deputy, are of the most grievous character. The Americans themselves set fire to the buildings, containing empty cases of French goods, hoping to destroy the French merchandise and articles for exhibition stored in the galleries. A second attempt of the same kind has been made within the last month. Worse than all, the police employed by the Centennial Board are purposely chosen from the worst and most degraded elements in the United States. The keepers are thieves without exception. They steal openly from the exhibitors in the French department, and all others. There exists an understanding between these knaves and the judges. The judges call up rogues for a hearing where complaints are made at hours unknown to the complainants, and as a result no witness of criminal guilt being present, they are acquitted. Even worse than this if such things be possible; the thieves count on the judges themselves to give them the signal when the discreet moment has arrived to begin the pillage." The outrageous epistle concludes with a vile attack upon the virtue and manners of American women which cannot be transmitted by cable or reproduced in print.

THE SLANDER REFUTED BY THE MARQUIS DE TALLEYRAND.

To the Editor of the Figaro:

SIR—I have read with profound astonishment the letter of M. Du Sommerard to his friend in Vienna. I was attached to the commission sent to the Philadelphia Exposition, and I must say that in that capacity, as well as a Frenchman, I received the most delicate attentions at the hands of the American people. I believe that all the Commissioners will say the same.

The accusation that the Americans purposely set fire to cases of goods in the French department is so monstrous that I cannot allow it to pass without a flat contradiction.

I was in America when that accident occurred, and no people regretted it more than the Americans. There was no ill-will, I will answer for it, and if the fire had been the work of an incendiary the whole country would have proclaimed its indignation.

M. Du Summerard should have drawn his information from a less partial source before accusing a people with an act so vile.

Once more my duty as a member of the French Commission compels me to protest against the imputations cast upon the American people by M. Du Sommerard.

Accept, Mr. Editor, the assurance of my distinguished consideration.

MARQUIS DE TALLEYRAND.

October 28, 1876.

THE LETTER DENOUNCED BY FRENCHMEN IN AMERICA.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—All the French officials here speak strongly in disapproval of the letter alleged to have been written by M. Du Sommerard, with reference to the Centennial Exhibition. Captain Aufrye, official representative of France at Philadelphia, said in an interview this afternoon: "If M. Du Sommerard writes a private letter, as the Figaro says, and it got into print, it was only by a breach of confidence. He may have written a harsh letter, but it has certainly been tortured and misrepresented."

"M. Du Sommerard's letter claims to be based on accounts sent to him by his deputy. Did you, as his deputy and chief of the Commission here, ever write anything like what is there published?"

"No, I have only reported to him some of the annoyances we have here, but never anything like that. Do you think that either I or M. Disbach, my colleague here, would ever insult the American ladies, as the last part of that letter does, impugning the virtue of American ladies? Why, M. Disbach has just married Miss McCall, and I myself am engaged to an American lady. That part of the letter, I am sure, is a forgery." From what Captain Aufrye said subsequently it was probable M. Du Sommerard had written something complaining of bad treatment at the hands of Americans, and that such complaints were well founded.

THE FRENCH IN NEW YORK DISAVOW THE LETTER.

NEW YORK, October 28.—The French citizens of this city are greatly enraged at the conduct of M. Du Sommerard, the French Commissioner General to the Exposition, for writing the letter published in the Paris Figaro, a summary of which was given in the Herald's special cable dispatch from Paris yesterday.

Among the passengers who left this city yesterday in the French steamer France for France, many of them being exhibitors at the Centennial, Du Sommerard's epistle was the prevailing subject of conversation, and the production was stigmatized on all hands as a vile libel. Among the French residents in the city the same emphatic language prevailed. An old and highly respected French gentleman, who has resided many years in this city, spoke as follows to a Herald reporter:

"I am very much mortified on account of the letter purporting to have been written by Du Sommerard. I have no doubt he wrote the letter, and that it is no forgery. The attack on the chastity of American women is to me inexplicable, and I hope he will be cowhided for the cowardly aspersion. From the days of noble Lafayette to the present time the utmost good will and harmony has prevailed between France and the United States, and to think that now a miserable Bonapartist should try and break the entente cordiale between the two countries exasperates me. Many of our exhibitors at the Exhibition are very irritable fellows, notably the Parisians, who prefer the French red tape system to our free and easy American manners."

PROMPT ACTION OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT—DISAVOWAL OF THE LETTER.

PARIS, October 29.—Mr. Washburne, the American Minister, has drawn the attention of the Duke Decazse to the calumnious insults contained in a letter attributed to M. Du Sommerard, Chief Commissioner of France to the Centennial Exhibition. He did not, however, demand the recall of M. Du Sommerard or any other measure, but confined himself to pointing out matters, leaving the French Minister of Foreign Affairs to determine what reparation was due the United States. The manner in which the Duke received Mr. Washburne's representations leaves no doubt but that a complete reparation will be afforded, and that the affair will be satisfactorily arranged.

A later telegram reports that M. Ozenre, acting in the name of the Minister of Commerce, after conferring with the Duke Decazes, telegraphed on Saturday evening to M. Du Sommerard, asking him, before rigorous measures were adopted, to state whether the objectionable letter was authentic. It is said that M. Du Sommerard has replied that it is apocryphal.

The affair has caused much excitement among the Americans in Paris, and has called forth the following official note, which is published this morning: "A letter speaking offensively of a great nation, holding friendly relations with France, has been published in a foreign journal, and reproduced in a French newspaperr. The letter has been attributed to a high functionary representing France at Philadelphia, but the Government hopes that it is apocryphal. The Government has, however, demanded an explanation from the person concerned, and is now awaiting his reply, in order to come to a decision on the matter."

SKETCH OF DU SOMMERARD.

Edmond du Sommerard, artist and collector of antiquities, was born at Paris, April 27, 1817, and is the son of Alexandre du Sommerard, the celebrated antiquarian and founder of the Cluny Museum at Paris. In his youth he studied landscape painting, notably while accompanying his father in his last tour in Italy. He helped his father greatly in the compilation of his book entitled "Arts du Moyen Age," but the latter died before it was completed, in the year 1842. Edmond Sommerard subsequently succeeded his father as Director-in Chief of the Hotel de Cluny, which had meanwhile become one of the royal museums. Under his administration it prospered greatly and became celebrated for its collection of articles of mediæval and renaissance periods. In 1846 he was appointed one of the Commissioners of Historical Monuments. In 1855 he was appointed one of the jury of the Paris Exhibition in the sections of paintings and engravings and also for the "twenty-fourth class of industry," which comprised furniture and its ornamentation. M. Du Sommerard was decorated after the Nepoleonic coup d'etat with the Order of the Legion of Honor while Captain of the National Guard. Later on he was made an officer of said legion. He was also a member of the Imperial Commission sent by the French Government to London in 1863. At the Paris Exhibition of 1867 he acted as Commissioner General. Du Sommerard, it may be mentioned, is decorated with a large number of foreign orders.

SENATOR BLAINE IN CHICAGO—A MAGNIFICENT OVATION—OVER 15,000 PERSONS PRESENT.

CHICAGO, October 28.—The reception in this city to-night to Hon. James G. Blaine was a magnificent ovation in point of number and enthusiasm. The Exposition building, in which he spoke, was filled to its extremest limit, the attendance reaching between fifteen and twenty thousand—fully as large as the turnout to listen to Colonel Robert Ingersoll on last Saturday evening. Mr. Blaine spoke nearly two hours, reviewing constically and with great vigor the objectionable fertures and record of the Democratic party. His speech was enthusiastically received, and the whole demonstration takes a leading place with the most remarkable gatherings of the campaign. The Republicans here have secured the appointment of election supervisors, under the law of 1871, and are making a preliminary canvass of every ward of Chicago, with a view to the detection and punishment of all frauds which may be attempted or perpetrated.

FRAUDULENT REGISTRATION IN TROY—TACTICS OF THE DEMOCRACY.

TROY, October 28.—There is no disguising the fact that Tilden's "still hunt" here means a large fraudulent registry. Three arrests have already been made. An ex-convict named Lynch was found illegally registered. Another man came over from West Troy, which is in Albany county, and registered. Yesterday, James Kaveny, a Democratic supervisor of election, was arrested for registering a minor aged twenty, who had declined to register himself, and allowed Kaveny to do so. More arrests will follow.—Special to New York Times.

A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER'S TROUBLES.

WILKESBARRE, October 28.—The Workingman, a Cooper and Cary organ, was to appear as a Republican sheet to-day. The business managers took out articles which had been written by C. Benjamin Johnson, editor, in favor of Colonel Wright for Congress, and inserted one for Payne, Republican. When Mr. Johnson discovered it he ordered the printing to be stopped, but was disobeyed and driven from the office by threats of violence. He applied to the court for an injunction, but before it could be served part of the edition was run off and circulated. The Workingman circulates largely among laboring men. The affair caused a great deal of excitement in political circles.

THE REPUBLICANS OF ERIE WIDE AWAKE.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

ERIE, October 25, 1876.

Knowing a good report from the Lake Shore county would be welcome by your readers, it affords us pleasure to improve the present occasion. A few days since the Tilden-Scottites, arousing to the necessities of their failing fortunes hereabouts, with much noise and many lights endeavored to give renewed courage to their hosts. Prompted by this, the hosts of freemen hereabouts decided on a similar reply, and if ever Lake Erie's shores did seem to the always observant tar to be on fire, it must have been last night, as up and down our leading avenues marched and rode bearing torches, evidencing their zeal in the good cause, as much on fire, many thousands of Erie's gallant Republicans.

Over three thousand citizens joined in this grand expression of their abiding faith in the powers that be, and are to be! That the men noble enough to give their lives for the preservation of the Republic of a Washington and Lincoln, are good and true enough to be continued in the grand work of its preservation; as they had rode under Sheridan and Custer, so again in their saddles, with torches in hand, came over a thousand sons of Erie county in all the glow of their patrotic zeal to evidence their faith and bespeak their attachment to a government "of, by and for the people," and their intention to keep it in custody of hands always ready to defend its flag at home as well as abroad. Joined in this grand array bearing aloft the brilliant symbol were to be seen men representing might, in money and brains and intellect in all professions, like Hons. Charles M. Reed, Carlton B. Curtis, Addison Leech, William Spencer, &c., &c.—men from all classes and grades, all professions and callings in life, exhibiting in sincerity and earnestness that outstrips everything of the kind that has ever been known hereabouts. Transparencies with pungent reminders of what some would have us, but we cannot forget, dotted the huge column, while ever and anon the "ensign of the free" in its ever-beautious form would appear, with not a star effaced nor a stripe lost since first it was planted at the front, the freemen's symbol, the tyrant's dread. The music of the numerous bands lent spirit to the hour, but high over the sweet strains in mighty choruses rose the ever lusty hurras of not only the marching phalanxes, but the surging multitudes, as passing the numerous places gorgeously illuminated with lights, Chinese lanterns, etc., etc., the populace, abetted by many thousands from the country round, joined in responsive sympathy. Briefly, Erie is aglow with enthusiasm and surcharged with determination that her former good name as a Republican stronghold shall be redeemed, and no more Democratic stool-pigeons be sent to bow the suppliant knee to Confederate dictation—that men who perilled their lives and all to destroy our beloved institutions shall not be able to say again, They whipped us by bullet; we will betray and conquer them by the ballot! ! And is not this their object this hour?

Until ten o'clock did the moving miles of fire light the highways, adjourning to the Opera House to listen to the eloquent appeals of Colonel R. Stockett Mathews, of Baltimore, where midnight found the earnest throng still unwilling to rest.

Had this evidence of faith been given under the cheering rays of Luna, with paved avenues to tread, cleanly and prepared, it would not have been so unusual; but instead a cloudy, threatening day had dampened the prospects, and at dusk a drizzling rain turned into sharp showers, and 'midst mud and wind and at times severe rains moved the solid columns, not a whit discouraged nor a torch unborne, and these, too, by Erie's best, most valued and respected citizens.

To summarise, let me add, never has our party been so successfully enlisted as in this campaign, under the zealous leadership of her distinguished Republican leader, James Sill, Esq., President of the Central Republican Club. Every ward has its club, and their numerous meetings have sent enthusiasm through all the lines, permeating the country round, in which huge political picnics and gatherings have abounded. At all, this leading spirit, known only to be respected, has given his earnest counsel. While all honor is due to the many faithful, we know none will refuse to recognize this self-sacrificing patriot as the leader we call him.

Hon. L. F. Watson, our nominee for Congress, is making a most favorable impression and bids fair to secure a more decided support than his most sanguine friends had anticipated. No office seeker—a clean, new man in politics, as a leader, his successful commercial life unspotted, we bespeak for him, believing him worthy, the cordial support of our people. Loyal to the core, intelligent, candid and manly in his bearing, Warren county, whose son he is, can honor herself by giving him, as we expect she will, an unprecedented Republican majority. Erie county, true to herself, we confidently expect will serve him likewise. Venango having made the nomination, will not, we believe, do less than her whole duty.

From all attainable, Northwestern Pennsylvania will resume her accustomed Republican status, and decently but emphatically retire the mis-Representatives she now has. So mote it be.

As a whole, the nominations are good. It is not expected to find first choice, always, nominated. Our German citizens, so worthy, have in Representative for this city, and Sheriff, the nominees, while our opponents give them nothing! Comment needless. Hon. T. Newton Pettis will address Erieans next Tuesday, and his many Republican friends intend to give him a royal welcome.

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY AMONG THE MINERS.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

HOUTZDALE, CLEARFIELD CO., PA.,
October 25, 1876.

Last night witnessed a very large and enthusiactic Republican demonstration at this place. A stand decorated by wreaths of evergreens and flags was erected in front of the principal hotel. All the buildings in the immediate vicinity were beautifully illuminated. Notwithstadding the rain and inclement weather, it was by far the largest and most enthusiastic meeting ever held in this place.

The crowd was estimated at from 600 to 800, and was addressed first by W. C. Arnold, Esq., of Curwinsville, who was listened to attentively as he humorously discussed the claims of the Democracy to power. After his address Thomas H. Murray, Esq., Chairman of the County Committee, very eloquently and earnestly presented the record of the Republican party, while he exposed the infamous record of the Democracy and demonstrated the shallowness of their pretense of reform.

POLITICS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Congressional Campaign—Prospects of an Increase of Ten Republican Members—Probabilities of the Forty-fifth Congress Being Republican—Condition of the Campaign Throughout the State—The Majorities in Congressional Districts for the Forty-fourth Congress.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

PHILADELPHIA, October 23, 1876.

The Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, within the past few days, has received a large number of letters from chairmen of county committees and other responsible Republicans, from which it is evident that the Republican campaign is progressing most satisfactorily. The atrocities of the rebel chivalry, in addition to their revolutionary and ruinous policy in the House of Representatives last session, has confirmed all the law abiding citizens as to their duty to their country. The results of the campaign of 1874, which gave the majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Forty-fourth Congress over to the Democrats, will not be repeated in the present campaign.

In Philadelphia the Republicans will recover the Fifth district, lost in 1874 through a division in the party. In the Tenth district the Democrats have two candidates in the field, which, if persisted in, will be sure to give Reeder, the Republican candidate, the majority. In the Twelfth district, about which there has been some misgivings on account of the retirement of Judge Ketcham, the nomination of Mr. Payne has given such universal satisfaction that his election is counted certain. In the Thirteenth district (Schuylkill) the suppression of the Democratic organization known as the Molly Maguires makes "Jimmy" Reilly's chances very doubtful. The assassinations committed by this organization, under the auspices of miner's unions and the Democratic party, had brought such a reign of terror that the Republicans of Schuylkill county were as much afraid to go to the polls as their fellow-citizens in the lawless States of the South. The Republican candidate, Colonel Nutting, is accused of being a carpet-bagger, though he has lived a lifetime in Schuylkill county, and has been one of its most useful and respected citizens. On the other hand, "Jimmy" Reilly has never been identified with anything useful, and is now in a controversy as to whether he was or was not a member of the Mollie Maguires. He says not. It should be noted in this connection that the stern course of justice has been such that Mollies are in disfavor. In the Fifteenth district Powell was elected by but 101 majority, a district which gave Hartranft a majority of 2,798 in 1872. The local causes which effected the former result no longer exist. In the Seventeenth distrit the other Reilly, dubbed John, seems to be also in trouble. General Campbell is making warm work for the Bourbons of Cambria, Bedford, Blair and Somerset. Hartranft's majority in the four counties in 1872 was 1,936. In the Eighteenth district the voters have apparently had enough of the gentleman from Chambersburg. The tidal wave of 1874 has receded. The Republican candidate, Mr. Mahan, has revived the old time spirit of Republicanism, when the six counties of the district aggregated a majority of 1,139 for Hartranft.

Of the mass of cheering news from all parts of the Commonwealth none gives greater satisfaction than that from the Twenty-second and the Twenty-third districts. This enlightened and enterprising section in the hands of Southern rebels and Northern free traders was one of those anomalies which exceeded all powers of reasoning. That such a people as the citizens of Pittsburgh, with their vast industrial establishments and intimate relations to the material growth and prosperity of the land, could so far forget themselves as to place their fortunes in the hands of the men who attempted to drag the entire fabric of government to the ground, has more than puzzled the brains of statesmen and politicians. The news from Allegheny assuring the success of Major Errett and Colonel Bayne, is naturally a source of general rejoicing to the citizens of this city. The election of General Harry White in the Twenty-fifth is confidently asserted. The campaign in that district is said to be particularly active. The Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh districts, now Democratic respectively by majorities of seventy-three and twelve, will return to their old moorings, as the discords which demoralized the party in 1874 have been satisfactorily healed.

In summing up the probable results of the Congressional campaign in Pennsylvania, in the Republican column will be found the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh districts; total 20. In the Democratic column the Third, Eighth, Tenth (at present doubtful), Eleventh, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first; total 7.

	Dem.	Rep.
The Pennsylvania delegation in the Forty-fourth Congress was	17	10
Forty-fifth Congress (prospective)	7	20
	10 loss.	10 gain.

The Democrats are making a great noise in many parts of the State, but are evidently nearly demoralized. The loss of nine members in Ohio, Indiana and Colorado, and the prospects of losing ten more in Pennsylvania, a change of thirty-eight, or over half the number required to give the House to the Republicans, is having a very perceptible effect.

The following will show the status of the Congressional districts in the campaign of 1874:

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1876.

The Post has one positive quality. It is the prehensile appendage of the Southern kite.

Remember that a day at the polls on the 7th of November may save a year in the ranks thereafter.

Hopkinsism is simply a reflection of Tildenism, which is itself only a reflection of Southern barbarism.

Two hundred millions of annual taxes rescinded by a Republican administration. That is the Republican record.

Remember, Republicans, that if virtuous and intelligent men do not take care of the country, ignorant and vicious men will.

Remember that every vote for Tilden is a vote to place the men who fought to destroy the Union in control of the Government.

But one week remains until the election. Let every Republican, from this time out, be like the busy bee, and improve each shining hour.

The Democratic organ in this city has some fine specimens of graveyard whistle every morning, and the supply is promised regularly until after the election.

Every young man in Pennsylvania should follow Colorado's example and cast his first unsullied, virgin vote for the Republican ticket a week from to-morrow.

The Post, in its laborious efforts to appear hopeful of the success of its party candidates, reminds one of a small boy attempting levity while suffering from green apples.

The workingmen of Pittsburgh have pretty generally made up their minds that the only security for "better times" will be found in the election of the Republican candidates.

That Republican who misses his vote in October by being absent from the State on business that could be deferred, or on a tour of pleasure, is a traitor to the Republican cause.

In the year 1864 Hopkins held with Tilden that the war for the Union was a failure. The loyal men of the country said it was not a failure, and fought it to a successful issue.

In Dr. Johnson's day, Patriotism was "the last refuge of scoundrels;" in our day it is "reform." John Morrissey and the Pittsburgh Post both come out very strong on that point.

George W. Julian, a Republican renegade, is announced to speak in this city for Tilden to-morrow night, which will be bad for the latter, as he has no votes to lose in this State.

Any Pennsylvania Republican who shall vote for a Democratic candidate for Congress will show himself to be as bad an enemy of the country as the worst of the Carolina cut-throats.

The Post, lacking the ability to answer the admirable argument made by John H. Ricketson, Esq., at the business men's meeting, makes several silly attempts to break the force of it by ridiculing the speaker.

The gamblers of New York, at Morrissey's, bet two to one on Tilden; but in Wall street, among the merchants, the betting is one hundred to eighty on Hayes. The merchants know better than the gamblers.

The one chance which Tilden has for carrying New York is cheating. If he can poll and count 40,000 fraudulent votes he can carry that State, and if not, then not. Yet Tilden is the Reform candidate for President.

The great Democratic procession in New York, which was telegraphed as containing 50,000 men, was but an hour and three quarters in passing a given point and contained but 6,000 torches. Why, we can beat that procession here, any day.

There must be no division in the ranks of the loyal men in this Presidential year. It is the rebel South or the united country. Remember this, independents, and join hands to bury the old rebel Democracy beyond hope of resurrection.

One week from to morrow the beating of the Democrctic gongs will cease, and the honest, Union-loving, sham-hating people of the country will march to the polls and elect Rutherford B. Hayes the next President. "Mark the prediction."

Tilden never writes a letter in which there are not more holes than there are in a skimmer. And the criticisms are now rattling through and through his "last ditch" Southern claims pronunciamento like hailstones through a broken skylight.

We notice that when any particular danger is pointed out as likely to follow a return of the Democracy to power, the Democrats always refer to the Republican Senate as a bar to all danger. Wouldn't a Republican House add to the safety in such cases?

Greenbackers should vote the straigh Republican ticket. Freedom must go hand in hand in all things. We cannot have free money till we have free men, and freedom is never assured when political violence can anywhere deter a citizen from voting.

Let it be borne in mind that a united party and a full vote are as necessary now, when facing the enemy at the polls, as in the battle of the Wilderness or before Atlanta. Full ranks and no stragglers will leave the way open for freedom's march clean to the Southern sea.

They do not need any pledge from Hayes that he will not, if elected President, approve bills for the payment of rebel claims. Every body knows where he stands. It is only from Tilden such a pledge is exacted, and his word is not worth much, now, in the promise market.

Every Republican should examine his ticket closely on election day, and see that all the Republican candidates' names are on it, and have not been marked or scratched in any way. The Democrats will try to deceive voters. Be on your guard, and take tickets from responsible Republicans only.

The issue is between the men who look forward and the men who look backward. It is between the workshop of progress and the graveyard of Democracy; between purity and manly honor and a just ambition on the one hand, and petty intrigue and miserable methods and unworthy ambitions on the other.

Cochran calls high heaven to witness that he will never, never, never vote for paying rebel claims nor for free trade, but his promises are like those made upon a sick bed, to be broken as soon as health returns.

"The Devil got sick; the Devil a saint would be;
The Devil got well; and devil a saint was he."

The people are asked by Tilden to feel perfectly satisfied that a Democratic Congress and Administration would consider the amendments as sacred and absolutely inviolable. And yet the Democrats took their first chance to rescind the ratification of these amendments in Indiana, New Jersey and New York.

If Tilden should be elected the probability is that he would die within a year, for he is a mere wreck; but whether he dies or not, we shall have another war, or all the preliminary evils of war before his term will run out. The Democratic party believes and knows how bad he is, but doesn't care for that, which shows that, bad as he may be, he is quite up to the average Bourbon standard of morality left by the war. Nobody can damage him. There is nothing that would injure him unless it would be to join the church and turn good. That would ruin him.

The worthlessness of Tilden's voluntary promise not to approve any bills for the payment of rebel claims is shown by Mr. Tilden himself in his letter of acceptance, as follows:

> While much may be accomplished by these methods, it might encourage delusive expectations if I withheld the expression of my conviction that no reform of the civil service in this country will be complete until its Chief Magistrate is constitutionally disqualified for re-election, experience having repeatedly exposed the futility of self-imposed restrictions by candidates or incumbents.

Mr. Tilden himself being judge, his self-imposed restriction in the matter of rebel claims amounts to nothing—is, in fact, futile and worthless.

COOPER AND CARY MEN, LOOK HERE!

There are a few Republicans in this county who still talk of voting for Cooper and Cary; and we ask them in all seriousness, to tell us how they propose to do it?

There is but one way in which any one can vote for President, and that is by voting for an electoral ticket pledged to the support of the candidate whom the voter wishes to vote for; but where is the electoral ticket that is pledged to support Cooper and Cary in Pennsylvania? There is no such ticket, and the purpose is to turn in all the Cooper and Cary vote to Tilden and Hendricks.

Every one of the leading Democrats, East, who professed to be for Cooper, has come out for Tilden, including that prince of political blatherskites, F. W. Hughes. They were mere decoy ducks to rope in unsuspecting Republicans.

We feel justified in saying that there is not, now, and will not be a separate electoral ticket in this State for Cooper. Two Senatorial electors were chosen at Harrisburg by a State Convention, but no district electors; and the purpose is to print the Democratic electoral ticket, with the two Cooper Senatorial electors at the head, and palm this fraudulent ticket upon the Cooper men.

Let the innocent Cooper men look at these facts. First, Hewitt, the Chairman of Tilden's National Committee, is the son-in-law of Peter Cooper. He is too sharp to let the old man stay in the field if he could not use him to seduce Republicans into voting for him. And second, Cary is reported as preparing a letter, withdrawing his name, and recommending all his victims to vote for Tilden and Hendricks.

Every man who takes the bogus electoral ticket that will be palmed off as Cooper's, will be cheated into voting for at least twenty-seven out of the twenty-nine Tilden electors in this State. None but a blind man can be fooled by such a trick.

The same game, we understand, will be played in Ohio. There is no electoral ticket for Cooper in that State, either. It is a case of deliberate treachery, and if the Cooper men have an ounce of common sense they will resent the dirty trick that the Democrats seek to play upon them.

PITCHING THE PARTY OVERBOARD.

The attempt of Hopkins and Cochran to throw their party overboard and to get elected on the ground that they are better than their party, has been followed by Tilden, in his effort to make the people believe that he is opposed to the payment of rebel claims. The New York Tribune says:

> Here we have a candidate for the Presidency, less than two weeks before the election, trying to pitch his own party overboard, and to get elected on the plea and pledge that he can be trusted to fight his party and its avowed demands to the end, if need be, by a succession of vetoes. We believe that no other candidate for the Presidency has felt compelled, in such fashion, to a admit that his party was utterly distrusted by the people, and distrusted justly. No other interpretation can be given to this extraordinary letter.
> Mr. Tilden is right in his belief that the country utterly distrusts Democracy. Had he asserted that a Democratic Congress would never pass bills so outrageous, everybody would have laughed at him and pointed to the record. For the present Democratic House has referred rebel claims to its committee, and that committee avowed its opinion that the Government was liable to the full amount of such claims as trustee for the claimant.
> Moreover, the Democratic House repealed, so far as it had power, the act which prohibits the consideration by the Court of Claims of any presented by disloyal persons. The experiment will not work. The country does distrust the Democracy, and with reason. But in national and purely party matters, it equally distrusts Mr. Tilden. The attempt to make people give to him, as an individual, the confidence which they utterly deny to the party by which he was nominated and is supported, cannot succeed.

Nearly every one of the States which attempted to establish a Southern Confederacy has defaulted on the payment on the interest of its debt; and in most of them such a proceeding is justified by the leading State officials. In each of these States the debts were contracted chiefly for railroads, or other internal improvements. There are in operation in those States today 15,000 miles of railroad, the greater portion of which would never have been built but for the money contributed to their construction, in the purchase of State bonds, by persons who had confidence in their integrity and capacity. The benefits are reaped by the people, who now refuse to levy taxes to meet the debt which they voluntarily contracted. Let a united South once more come into power in the national councils in the person of Tilden and his fellow Democrats, and how long before they would find concerning our national debt, as they have found in Alabama concerning its State debt, that "sagacious capitalists must have foreseen that the State would not be able to protect its indorsement and that they would not have expected the tax-payers to contribute a sufficient amount of revenue to pay their obligations;" or, as in North Carolina, that the idea "that the State shall pay their bonds in full cannot be entertained for a moment?" This is a question which goes at once to the issue of the present campaign. On its answer depends the maintenance or the repudiation of our national debt, and hence of our national existence.

The vast national importance of securing a Republican representation in Congress from the Twenty-second and Twenty-third districts of this State cannot be too often set forth. Every intelligent Republican must understand it. The securing of a Republican majority in the next House of Representatives is second only in importance to the election of Hayes. Indeed, it is not entirely certain which is the more important, since it is probable that the House has greater power to affect the interests of the people than even the President. The Republicans only need to carry thirty one districts that were carried by the Democrats two years ago. They have already made good progress. In Ohio they have gained five members, in Indiana four, and young Colorado comes gallantly forwith her contribution of one. Hence we have now only twenty-one members to gain, and Allegheny county must help to make sure of the number. In this imminent crisis all personal preferences and dislikes, no less than all personal ambitions, should be subordinated to the patriotic object of protecting the Union against the deadly peril which confronts it, in the possibility of Confederate legislation and administration for the Federal Government.

Rev. M. W. Jacobus, D.D., LL. D., one of the ablest divines of the Presbyterian denomination in the West, died suddenly at his residence in Allegheny city, on Saturday morning, aged sixty years. Dr. Jacobus was an earnest, faithful and successful pastor; and as a professor in the Western Theological Seminary, through a long series of years, he discharged his duties with signal ability. It was as a commentator, however, that he achieved the highest distinction, and his notes on the Gospels, the Acts, and Genesis, retain a high place among popular commentaries. He was a devoted student of the Bible; and it was his love for and interest in Eastern literature that induced him to spend the greater part of two years in Palestine. He was one of the finest biblical scholars in the country, and it will be difficult to find a man equally well qualified to discharge the duties of the professorship which he held—that of Oriental and Biblical Literature. Within a month, in the death of Dr. Howard and Dr. Jacobus, the Presbyterian family have lost two of their most gifted and influential sons.

The real test of the Presidential candidates of the two great political parties is their record during the late trying period of our national history. In 1861 Governor Hayes welcomed the call to arms, and marched to fight his country's battles. At the same time Tilden refused to participate in a demonstration whose object was to encourage the Administration in the hour of danger. In 1862 and 1863, while Hayes was still at the front, Tilden was among his law books and amidst a coterie of treasonable Democrats who planned the destruction of their country. In 1864, when Hayes was fighting at South Mountain and winning laurels at the battle of Winchester, Tilden sat down with a band of traitors who, at Chicago, declared the war a failure. Is there a question in the mind of any man which of these two men is to be made President of the United States?

To-day we enter upon the last week of the great campaign. At such a time as this there ought to be no one indifferent, but it is likely that a search not very protracted would discover persons in every neighborhood who have no purpose to vote. It should be kept in mind that their votes when in the ballot-box are as useful and influential as those of an equal number of earnest men. It ought not to be left until the middle of the afternoon of election day to find out who is not likely to go to the polls unless carried. The lukewarm ones should be discovered beforehand, and all arrangements made to get them to the voting place. The time to attend to this business is now.

A special correspondent of the New York Times reports that he lately found in a little village in Cattaraugus county, New York, $175,000 lying idle, awaiting the result of the Presidential election. In the event of a Republican victory, the money is to be invested in a new industry in the village, but Democratic success will keep it still lying idle. He also finds that in the large cities a similar view of the situation is pretty generally taken by the capitalists, and he very justly remarks that "there is no class of people in this country so deeply interested in the success of the Republican ticket as the mechanics and laborers who are asked to vote for Tilden and Hendricks on account of the hard times."

The import movement of dry goods at the port of New York for October shows a continued diminution compared with past years, and, with but one exception, the decrease was general on the several classes of goods. The manufacturers of wool and of cotton figure most conspicuously in the falling off. The aggregate importations have been $5,327,377, a decrease of $467,764, as compared with the corresponding month last year, and $763,305 compared with 1874 The aggregate importations for the past nine months are $70,670,556, or nearly $20,500,000 below the total for the corresponding period last year, and $24,913,500 below that for like months of 1874.

The "solid South" has now a representation of one hundred and ten in the National House of Representatives. When the elections for the Forty-fifth Congress are over it will be found that nearly all the men chosen from that section have been selected on a strictly rebel basis. The touchstone of the "Lost Cause" will have been applied to them, and those who failed to respond will have failed to win. Then they will need but about forty doughfaces from the North to secure the majority in the House, and the last state of that body will be worse than the first. Let every Republican voter bear this important fact in mind.

Julian, the apostate, is to make a Democratic speech in this city to-morrow night. He was a zealous Republican as long as that party would keep him in office. For many years he was a member of the Lower House of Congress. Then he wanted to go to the Senate; but the Republicans of Indiana found a better man. Next he wanted a foreign mission; but President Grant found it impossible to meet his exalted views of his own merits. Immediately he concluded that the Republican party was awfully currupt.

Ten millions of dollars is the amount of trade (according to the Post's guess) which Pittsburgh loses by not voting the Democratic ticket and keeping on the good side of the Confederates. Leaving out of view the fact that intelligent Republicans vote for principles, and not for trade, still, in a business point of view, would it not be better to lose the "alleged" ten millions, than to give the Confederates full swing at the Treasury, from which they propose to draw thousands of millions in satisfaction of their war claims?

Republicans! See that all your arrangements for voting on the 7th of November are made by next Monday night. Look out for split tickets. Appoint men in each ward who know every voter in your ward. Challenge every doubtful person. See that every fraudulent voter is arrested. Guard the ballot-box of your wards as you would protect your own hearthstones, and the work of that day will result in an overwhelming Republican victory.

There is only one way in which large majorities can be rolled up at the polls, and that is by every man doing his whole duty. The duty of every Republican is to work earnestly from this time until the closing of the polls on the 7th of November.

There is a great outcry in Paris at the refusal of Victor Hugo to subscribe to the Gautier monument fund. The following is given as a poor man's breakfast near Colton, San Bernardo Valley, California: Tea, sweetened with pure, white, strained honey, thick cream, and bread, milk, eggs, Hubbard squash, ham, pomegranate, black Hamburg grapes, Flamme de Tokay grapes, green figs and peaches. Cost of breakfast for man and wife, fifteen cents.

Baltimore has a sensible Enoch Arden, if any of the vegabonds may be called sensible. The Baltimore Arden was the driver of an ice cart and the possessor of a wife and children. Three years ago he took it into his head to go West. He never informed his family of his whereabouts, and the other day turned up in Baltimore, after three years' absence, to find that his wife, believing him dead, had remarried. He therefore wisely determined to accept the situation, and will make no contest for the possession of the woman he so heartlessly abandoned.

The woman who last summer shot at Prince Gortschakoff, the Russian Minister in Switzerland, having exhibited symptoms of insanity was some time ago taken from the prison at Berne and placed in an asylum at Waldau. She was found at the cell door prepared for a journey; her money was sewed in the lining of her hat and her portmanteau was in her hand; in her hair she had secreted two pairs of scissors—for what purpose does not appear.

Art is low in the New York market. Apropos of which, a correspondent tells a story of James Beard's early days. He spent a summer at a country inn, and paid his board in portraits at five dollars apiece. Some year or two afterward, the landlord found the rising artist in the city painting portraits on a rising market. "James," said the old man, "what do you get for pictures now?" "Thirty dollars," was the reply. "Ah! and how many can you paint in a week?" "Two," said truthful James. The old man, after a slight mental wrestle, exclaimed, "Sixty dollars a week—two hundred and forty dollars a month. Now, James, if you can be very careful and save up your money, you'll soon be able to leave painting and go into some respectable business" Beard says that, in a business point of view, he has often been sorry he didn't take the advice.

Tilden Criminates Himself.

[From the Brooklyn Argus (Dem.) October 28.]

The most damaging fact in Mr. Tilden's fraudulent action in regard to his income returns comes out to-day. In 1869 he paid an income tax on $17,000. During that year he was paid $50,000 by the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company. This entry appears on the books of the company, and his receipt is among its vouchers. District Attorney Bliss applied to the directors—one of whom is Mr. Tilden himself—for permission to examine the books. His application was refused, and it is discovered that the books are made a special deposit with one of Tilden's particular personal and political friends in the board. Tilden and his friends combine to deny the reasonable request of a public officer in discharge of his duty. Their action is proof that the charges are true. If the books of the company would refute the charge, they would be shown with alacrity. To conceal them is to shield Mr. Tilden and defend his damaged name. It is more than this—it is a blundering attempt to shield him, which proves a wretched failure, and leaves no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that Mr. Tilden dare not answer the question, because to do so would be to criminate himself. If the company had given this information, it would not have been made public until after the election, to which period Mr. Bliss has postponed the suit, in order to gain time for a careful and accurate preparation. Now, however, the public have it, with all the miserable surroundings which go to convince them of its truth, and of the pitiful shifts and evasions of which Sham Reformer Tilden is capable. Mr. Bliss reports further that he finds Mr. Tilden was paid in 1869, $16,000 by the Union Pacific Railroad Company, in addition to $11,500 paid in other times. The evidence shows that Mr. Tilden was down on the "hard pan" in the Credit Mobilier, and that not even Oakes Ames was deeper in that scheme than himself. A precious reformer is this man, as the long record of his transaction in railroad wrecking and kindred pursuits shows. His friends say that Tilden was a poor man in 1862. In 1872 he was worth $3,000,000 at least. Meantime he had paid an income tax on an average each year of only $15,000. But he was saving and thrifty, and so laid up his honest pennies, taking special pains to keep all he could from the just demands of the Government engaged in quelling the rebellion.

In looking over the Richmond Enquirer of September 8, 1863, we have been struck with the sameness of its cry with that of the other Democrats now in this campaign. It talks of getting "investigating committees on the conduct of the war," of "the corruption of contracts," "shameless failures," "disgraceful management," and wants "reform" generally. It wants General Lee to "turn politician," "march into Pennsylvania" to "AGAIN RAISE THE SPIRITS OF THE DEMOCRATS, confirm their timid, and give confidence to their wavering." It wants to "embolden the PEACE PARTY" [the Democrats] by a movement of Lee's army, so as to produce results that will "BE WORTH MORE TO THEM THAN BLOOODIEST VICTORIES." It proposes "a fall campaign into Pennsylvania with the hands of our [their] soldiers united." And what is funny, it has, like the other Democrats here now, a great fuss about "damages." It concludes by saying, "the road to peace lies through Pennsylvania via Washington." All this comes up exactly to the ideas and arguments of a Democrat in 1876. There is a most remarkable similarity between a rebel in 1863 and a Democrat in 1876. The ex Confederates and Copperheads are now the managers of the Democratic party, and the Democrats talk just as the rebels used to talk when they were fighting for their "rights." Shall such men govern this nation? If they ever do, it will be the utter ruin of the country.

De Kalb township, St. Lawrence county, New York, will probably cast a solid, unanimous vote for Hayes and Wheeler on the 7th proximo. For years past the above named township has contained but one legal voter of the Democratic ticket. He is still in the county, but, unfortunately for his party, his presence there will do it no good, as he has been consigned to jail until after the election. This is another "Radical outrage" on the freedom of the ballot.

The Indianapolis Journal favors a change of the time of the State elections in Indiana from October to November.

E. F. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.

This truly valuable tonic has been so thoroughly tested by all classes of the community that it is now deemed indispensable as a Tonic medicine. It costs but little, purifies the blood and gives tone to the stomach, renovates the system and prolongs life. Everybody should have it. For the cure of Weak Stomachs, General Debility, Indigestion, Diseases of the Stomach, and for all cases requiring a tonic. This wine includes the most agreeable and efficient Salt of Iron we possess—Citrate of Magnetic Oxide, combined with the most energetic of vegetable tonics—Yellow Peruvian Bark.
Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
If you do, try KUNKEL'S BITTER WINE OF IRON.
I only ask a trial of this valuable tonic.
Beware of counterfeits, as Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is the only sure and effectual remedy in the known world for the permanent cure of Dyspepsia and Debility, and as there are a number of imitations offered to the public, I would caution the community to purchase none but the genuine article, manufactured by E. F. Kunkel, and having his stamp on the cork of every bottle. The very fact that others are attempting to imitate this valuable remedy, proves its worth and speaks volumes in its favor. Sold only in $1 bottles. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!
The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.
NERVOUS DEBILITY.
However obscure the cause may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of
characterized by a general languor or weakness of the whole organism, especially of the nervous system, obstructing and preventing the ordinary functions of nature; hence there is a disordered state of the secretions; constipation, scanty and high-colored urine with an excess of earthy or limey sediment, indicative of waste of brain and nerve substance, frequent palpitations of the heart, loss of memory, and marked irresolution of purpose, and inability to carry into action any well defined business enterprise, or to fix the mind upon any one thing at a time. There is great sensitiveness to impress though retained but a short time, with a flickering and fluttering condition of the mental faculties, rendering an individual what is commonly called a whiffle-minded, or fickle-minded man.
This condition of the individual, distressing as it is, may, with a certainty, be cured by
THE CORDIAL BALM OF SYRICUM AND LOTHROP'S TONIC PILLS.
Medicines unrivalled for their wonderful properties and remarkable cures of all Nervous Complaints. Their efficacy is equally great in the treatment and cure of Cancers, Nodes, Ulcers, Pastule, Pimples, Tetter, Fever Sores, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Scaldhead, Barbers' Itch, Scurvy, Salt Rheum, Copper-Colored Blothes, Glandular Swelling, Worms and Black Spots in the Flesh, Discolorations, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth and Nose, Sore Legs, and sores of every character, because these medicines are the very best
BLOOD MEDICINE
Ever placed before the people, and are warranted to be the most Powerful Alterative ever originated by man, removing Morbid Sensibility, Depression of Spirits, Dementia, and Melancholia.
Each package of the Cordial Balm contains one box of the Tonic Pills, which may also be had separately at 50 cents per box.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, October 28, 1876.

The week closes upon a rather quiet state of affairs in banking circles, the money market being wholly undisturbed by any events of remarkable interest. The near approach of the Presidential election tends to detract attention from business affairs somewhat, but without that cause, financial affairs here would be likely to remain rather quiet. The demand for discounts, though moderate, is steady and in sufficient volume to afford tolerably good employment for the loanable funds of the banks, while on the other hand the supply of funds is ample for all present and prospective requirements. Discount rates range from 7 to 10 per cent., with most of the regular business at the banks on prime commercial paper done at 8@9 per cent. Business through the Clearing House continues moderate, the report below showing a slight decrease from the total exchanges of last week and from those of the corresponding week of last year. The report is as follows:

—In local stocks and securities there is no news to report of any marked importance. We hear of sales at auction on Friday evening of shares of the Exchange National Bank at $61 00 or 23.2 per cent. premium. From Philadelphia we have recent quotations of Pennsylvania Railroad first mortgage bonds at 107 and Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company at 66. From New York we learn that the belief that rates are to be raised by the trunk lines still affects the New York stock market. Prices have advanced and buyers are bolder and more numerous. The New York Daily Bulletin records that outsiders are operating more extensively in Wall street than at any previous time this year. The following are the latest Eastern quotations on railway stocks and securities of this vicinity:

—The statement of the leading averages of the New York banks for the week shows that, notwithstanding large changes in the items of deposits, loans and specie, the change in the net result is unimportant, the surplus reserve being $10,983,400—only $68,800 less than last week. The following is a comparison of the averages for the past two weeks:

—Some new light has been thrown this week upon the financial difficulties with which the Reading Railroad Company has been laboring. It appears that McCalmont & Co., the London bankers of the company, in June last advanced to the road, for purposes connected with its interests, $500,000 in cash and 50,000 shares of the stock, which, at its then market value, was worth about $2,250,000, making a total advance of $2,750,000. These funds were used in buying the company's stock at 44, in order to give a fictitious appearance of strength and thus maintain the company's credit.

It is said that the McCalmonts believed that their advances would be used in providing for the floating debt of the road. When the fund was exhausted in September, application was made for a second advance, which was promptly refused, with the consequence of a drop in the shares from 44 to 20, this decline of course involving the loss of the entire stock borrowed, inasmuch as money had been obtained on it for the most part at $35 per share. The attempt to prop up the stock was evidently a gigantic blunder. The note upon which the company came near going to protest a week or two ago, was held, it is said, by one Boston party and amounted to from $200,000 to $250,000.

—The New York Financial Chronicle has prepared a tabular statement giving the earnings of twenty of the State railroads for the month of September, and also for the first nine months of the current year. The tables do not embrace the Pennsylvania, the New York Central, Erie, Baltimore and Ohio, Lake Shore or Union Pacific, none of which, except the last named, make known their monthly earnings. The total earnings for the month are $6,782,111, and a net increase on the earnings for corresponding month last year of $311,208, and for the nine months of the year $51,434,702, an increase of $3,217,701. Seventeen roads not in the above totals, including the Philadelphia and Erie, give their gross earnings for August at $4,029,743, or a net decrease over August last year of $20,424. Thirteen of the same roads give $19,628,125 as the gross earnings for eight months, from January 1 to August 31, showing a net increase over the same period of 1875 of $408,786.

LONDON, October 28, 5 P. M.—The Stock Exchange was much calmer this week, and the principal securities generally advanced. The preparation for Monday's settlement in foreign stocks and bonds has thus far disclosed no embarrassments. The Continental bourses have also been much firmer and calmer. There has been a considerable bull movement in Anglo-American and Direct Cable shares, in consequence of reports of a fusion or working agreement. Such an arrangement has undoubtedly been discussed by the parties in interest, but its consummation is improbable. The discount rate has been well maintained, considering the limited number of bills and the large amount of floating capital. To-day's market was quiet but firm, with a generally upward tendency. Consols 95 11 16. United States bonds—5 20's, 1865, 103¼; do. 1867, 108¾; 10 40's, 108; new 5's, 106⅜. Railroad securities—New York Central, 96; Erie, 10½; do. preferred, 17.

GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
SATURDAY, October 28, 1876.

The market closed quietly in commercial circles with no very decided movement in values, outside of a slight improvement in petroleum, and a moderate amount of trade in most departments. The state of affairs previously reported as regards prices and characteristics of trade continues steadily, with some indications of movements in prices, caused by the advance of the season and free receipts of staple articles of produce. To-day, however, we cannot report any important alterations in prices.

The quotations given in the following reports are prices realized in wholesale transactions, unless otherwise specified. On small sales, dealers will charge an advance. Prices of grain, unless stated to the contrary, are free in elevator:

Grain, Flour and Feed.

GRAIN—There is a generally steady and tolerably active feeling in the grain trade, the principal feature, being the liberal receipts of all kinds of grain except rye. Wheat is in good demand for prime qualities and prices are steady, with receipts of 12,038 bushels for the week. We quote choice red winter at $1 22@1 25; amber do $1 25@1 28; white $1 28@1 32. Corn is a little easy under receipts of 15,800 bushels, but quotations are retained at former figures, prime old corn being comparatively firm. We quote shelled at 58@59c for prime yellow; 57@58c for high-mixed; 55@56c for low-mixed. Ear is quiet at 56@57c for prime yellow; 53@55c for mixed; new ear corn is in large supply and easy at 44@46c ℘ bushel. Oats are easy but not quotably declined from yesterday's figures. Receipts are not excessive, comparatively, being 21,776 bushels for the week. We quote prime white at 37@38c ℘ bushel; mixed 35@36c. Rye is firm and in fair demand at 72@75c. Barley is moderately active with large receipts, aggregating 5,294 bushels for the week, consigned principally to brewers. We quote at 90c@$1 10 for good to prime spring. Jobbing sales are made at the usual advance. The visible supply of grain, comprising the stocks in granary at the principal points of accumulation at lake and seaboard ports, and in transit on the lakes by rail and New York canals was as follows at the undermentioned dates:

	Oct. 21, 1876.	Oct. 14, 1876.	Oct. 23, 1875.	Oct. 24, 1875.
Wheat, bus	10,440,156	9,600,024	11,488,492	10,226,719

BUTTER—Continues to move sluggishly along without any noticeable alteration from the dull and depressed condition of affairs previously noted. The stock is ample, particularly of common to medium qualities, which are slow of sale. We quote prime to choice solid packed 18@20c; do roll 20@23c; choice dairy rolls 23@25c ℘ ℔.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is offering quite freely with a moderate demand. We quote at $3 50@4 00 per cwt. for prime quality.

New York Goshen rules at 14c in round lots; 14½@15c in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—The over-stock of low grade potatoes continues to exercise a depressing effect on the market, and while prices of strictly prime stock were nominally unchanged, sales are made all the way down from the quoted figures. For strictly prime stock the range on track is 50@65c per bushel as to quality 70@75c for strictly prime peachblows from store. Jersey sweets $3 00@3 25 per barrel; Baltimores $2 25@2 50 per barrel.

BUSINESS.—The crude market during the week has undergone various speculative fluctuations, with intervals of strength and depression, the extremes being $2 98¾ and $3 20. Between these points the prices for the leading certificates have varied, with no decided movement in either direction. The utterly speculative character of the market and the entire absence of legitimate demand has been apparent from the fact that shipment has been entirely nominal, ruling at about the same price on certificates. This abnormal condition of affairs is due to the deadlock in refined, which is held at 26 by the combination refiners, and is not wanted at that price for export. The position of the export trade is shown by the fact that while refined has declined 1@1½d in Liverpool and London, and 1½@2 francs in Antwerp, it is still held at the highest figure attained in this country for Eastern deliveries. The volume of sales and resales throughout the oil region during the week were therefore almost wholly speculative as follows:

	Bbls.		Bbls.
Monday	102,000	Thursday	212,000
Tuesday	32,000	Friday	103,000
Wednesday	7,000	Saturday	118,000
Total			639,000
Last week			498,000

A very prominent event in the week's market has been the alleged disclosures concerning an over-issue of certificates by the Pennsylvania Transportation Company. On this point the Oil City Derrick says: For several days past the principal theme of conversation in oil circles has been the embarrassment of the Pennsylvania Transportation Company, and the consequent decline in the value of paper issued by that corporation. The certificates of the company have been freely offered for two or three days past at prices considerably below the ruling market. We have refrained from mentioning the facts with the hope that it would turn out that the excitement was caused by some misunderstanding or hoax and being unwilling to do anything which would tend to injure or detract from the credit of any of the oil region institutions. It now seems, however, that it is a fact that this company has an over issue of certificates, and as such is the case silence is no longer a virtue. The shaky condition of the company was first brought to light last Monday, when a prominent oil man purchased 1,000 barrels of pipage paid oil, the line from which it was to be taken not being specified. When offered Pennsylvania Transportation the refused to take it, claiming that he had cars in and could get no oil from that line. Since then the paper of the line has gradually declined, sales to-day having been made as low as $2 30 here, and still lower, we are informed, at Parker.

A meeting of the directors and some of the stockholders of the company was held at Titusville this afternoon, but up to the time of this writing we have been unable to learn the result of their deliberations. We regret the occurrence very much, as it will tend to detract from the credit of all the pipe line companies more or less. We sincerely hope the matter may be satisfactorily arranged, and think it will, as we understand the stockholders are individually liable.

SATURDAY.

CRUDE—The market to-day has shown considerable strength. Opening at $3 03¾, it advanced gradually to $3 10. Then there was a slight reaction from this back to $3 06¼. During the afternoon it strengthened again to $3 11¼. Then there was another slight reaction to $3 10, which is now bid. Shipment was in more inquiry at about certificate prices. Union is still 12½@15c below United and Conduit. Well rates are the same as certificates.

REFINED—There is no change in the situation in the refined market, the prices of Eastern delivery being held firmly by the combination refiners, though rendered nominal by the entire absence of transactions. We quote round lots of five hundred and thousand barrels nominally at 21¾@22c; car lots to the home trade at 22¾@23c; Philadelphia and Baltimore deliveries are quoted at 25@26c.

OIL BARRELS—Are quiet and easy at $1 20 for city; $1 05 for country.

[By Western Union Telegraph.]

NEW YORK, October 28, closing 27.—There appears nothing to disturb the abnormal condition of the market. It is characteristic recently, that refiners are disposed to await the issue of trade and are not pressing business, and not a transaction occurs to fairly determine prices. The asking rates for crude are 12c in bulk and 16c in barrels; refined 26c in barrels and 30c in cases; city naptha 14c in shipping order. Refined in barrels at Philadelphia is quoted at 26c; refined at Baltimore is nominally 26c.

TITUSVILLE, October 28.—Market quiet; quoted at $3 00 for United.

OIL CITY, October 28.—Market quiet at $3 03¾; immediate shipment not quotable.

ROUSEVILLE, October 28.—Market quiet and steady at $3 00@3 05.

TIDIOUTE, October 28.—Market quoted at $3 00.

PARKERS, October 28.—United $3 07½ bid; $3 08¾ asked; shipment $3 00 bid; $3 05 asked.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—Market firm with every indication of still higher prices; crude 11c; standard white 26c asked; cases 30c.

[By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, October 28.—Petroleum quiet; crude 12c; refined 26c; cases 30c; naptha 14c.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28—Petroleum dull; crude in barrels 15@15½c; refined 26c.

CLEVELAND, October 28—Petroleum firmer; standard white, 110 degrees test, 23c.

LIVERPOOL, October 28.—Refined petroleum 18½d; spirits do 16¼d.

LONDON, October 28—Refined petroleum 18¼@18½d.

ANTWERP, October 28.—Refined petroleum 48 francs.

IRON MARKET.

BOSTON.

Pig—There is little new to note. The demand is of a restrictive character, although holders talk rather more confidently. They state that the sales of the past three weeks have been unusually large to all the furnaces, and that the great piles of stock that have marked the Philadelphia stock yards and the Pennsylvania manufacturing localities have been wiped out. Certainly the stocks for the market here are quite small, never before probably so light, but still there is no inducement to fill up. We note car lots ranging from $22 00 to $25 00 as to brands and quality.

Bar—Is selling in a jobbing way with a slight increase of business, while the iron for three new vessels has been contracted for during the week, with schedules on two others in the market likely closed late on Friday. The market for common iron is just a trifle steadier, while the improvement in the price of refined is noticeable. We quote $49 00 for refined and $40 00 for common per ton, quite low, with two dealers indifferent to sell at these prices.

Steel—Is moving a trifle more freely than a week ago for machinery purposes, with several large orders reported placed for saw and small edge-tool steel. We quote American tool 14@15c; American machinery 8@9½c; Bessemer tires 5¾c; Sweet's excelsior tire 7½c, English tool 15½c gold.

Old iron is without improvement. The anxiety of New York holders to sell at $26 00 f o b its No. 1 scrap, against $28 00 asked here, gives that market rather the preference, where water freights can be availed of. During the week two large consumers have reduced their paying prices to $1 15 f o b, and seem to be able to get two or three cars a day at that price. There is now no inducement for an interior shipper to forward stock here. If 1c can be obtained at the home founderies and furnaces it will pay better than to send into our market. That 1-5c additional obtainable here does not cover the expenses, much less the ordinary waste en route. Cast iron of all kinds is very dull, and all the dealers are piling up heavy heaps. Turnings are listless again, even at offers to shade our quotations. Rubber is a trifle stiffer. There is a report that there is a lot of 1,500 tons scrap on the way here from England, but it seems rather a singular announcement in connection with the low prices ruling here. The expenses alone to land here cannot be less than $16 00 currency, which would leave $12 00 as a margin on our market quotations, covering not much more than £2 sterling to pay for the stuff abroad.—Commercial Bulletin.

[By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK.

October 28—Manufactured copper quiet but steady; ingot lake quiet and heavy at 20¾@21c. Pig iron quiet but firm: Scotch $26 00@29 00; American $19 00@22 00. Russia sheet 11¼@11½c gold. Nails quiet; cut $3 10; clinch $4 60@5 35; horseshoe No. 8, $20 00@26 00.

Boston Wool Market.

The wool market has again had an active week, and the probabilities of another advance, say perhaps 1c on fine and medium wool, is quite decided. The sale of a fine lot of Pennsylvania XXX at 52c, unusually light, is suggestive to importers of the best classes of Australian that 49@49½c ought to be obtainable. The strongest tone this week is upon straight X ot s, and, while they do not quote quite up to the predictions of a dealer noted last week, there are two or three large lots that are being held for an anticipatory 42c during the early part of November.

The sales this week have been chiefly to manufacturers, who, from more abundant rains and a better demand for goods, are rather enthusiastic in their search for fleeces. The sales of Californias, it will be discovered, are full, but not quite so large, considering stock and the large consumptive demand, as had been anticipated might occur. There is a good preference for the Territory wools, which are selling low enough to draw attention from the fall Californias, and are in stock sufficiently large again to give purchasers a large choice.

SCARCITY OF PULLED WOOLS.

There is a temporary scarcity of super pulled wools, which will undoubtedly be soon overcome, as the profits on pelts are now certain and the demand for rough and finished skins in the leather market quite sharp. The sales of super have been quite free, the mills on spring goods turning to them as a substitute for certain medium fleeces that are quoting very high. Combing wools are about ½c higher and in fair demand, with only a very small stock of choice to select from. Good combings will realize 50½c. Anything above that is a fancy price for something very exceptional. Delaine wools are steady at 45c for well selected fine.

[By Associated Press.]

BOSTON, October 28.—Market active and very strong. Stocks rapidly disappearing; holders indifferent about selling. Ohio and Pennsylvania quite free, and in some cases very full prices were obtained; treble extra Pennsylvania 52c; extra Ohio 45@46c; extra Ohio and Pennsylvania 40@46c; No. 1 40@42c. Michigan and Wisconsin in demand; Michigan 36@40c; Wisconsin 36½@40c; desirable lots very firm at 40c. Combing and delaine in steady demand at 45@51c, including fine delaine and good average lots of combing; choice selections 54@55c. Pulled in better demand and firm; superfine and extra 35@40c; choice Eastern and Maine superfine 42½@45c.

THE McConnellsville Herald says: It is suggested that the new boat now building at Marietta, for the Mink Company, be called the C. C. Morgan, in honor of the genial Captain of the Mink.

THE Wheeling Intelligencer of Saturday says: Captain Ed. Hornbrook, an enthusiastic Republican and a jolly good fellow generally, will transport our battalion of Hayes' Guards to Bellaire to-night free of charge.

REAMER & HURLEY, wharfboat proprietors at New Albany, have brought suit against the city for the refunding of wharfage, claiming that they have paid the city taxes on their boat, and cannot be compelled to pay the city another tax on the same property.

THE Ironton Journal says: The Alice Furnace started up on Monday. The wharf improvement is going on well, and we will soon be able to afford accommodation to the whole river business at Ironton. The crumbling banks that have disfigured our city front are giving way to a regular and extended grade, adorning as well as benefiting the town.

HOME AGAIN.—We had the extreme pleasure of meeting our old friend Captain James W. Porter, who has just returned from the West after an extended trip. He has gained fifty pounds and is the picture of health. The Captain came home to vote like a good fellow, and will afterwards take another trip. The Captain is one of our most substantial iron commission merchants.

THE New Orleans Bulletin of Tuesday says: Since Sunday morning the receipts by river amount to 9,387 bales of cotton, 4,533 sacks of rice, 339 hogsheads of sugar, and 488 barrels of molasses. Same time last week, 9,647 bales of cotton, 7,000 sacks of rice, 86 hogsheads of sugar and 78 barrels of molasses. Same time last year, 9,848 bales of cotton, 4,641 sacks of rice, 187 hogsheads of sugar and 778 barrels of molasses.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: We are glad to know that the gentlemanly officers and crews of the United States Mail Line steamers United States and General Lytle are to be uniformed. This is as it should have been years ago, and what it will be soon. It gives character and dignity to these already popular steamers, which will certainly be appreciated and admired by the patrons of this line. We are truly glad to hear of the change.

ST. LOUIS, October 27.—The cases of Irwin H. Bettis, ex boiler inspector at St. Louis, who is under four indictments for embezzling the city's funds while in that office, were called for trial in the Criminal Court yesterday morning. Bettis failed to appear, and his bond in the sum of $4,000 was declared forfeited. The securities on it are Joseph F. Wangler, Joseph Kilpatrick and David Campbell, one or two of whom are his official bond, and all of whom are responsible men.

BOATS PASSED AWAY.—The following is an enumeration of the number of steamboats lost on our Western rivers during the year 1839, the total being 40, of which 32 were entirely lost: Snagged, 21; struck rock or other obstacles, 7; burned, 5; burst their boilers, 4; run into by other boats, 3—30. There were snagged on the Lower Mississippi, 11; on the Missouri, 4; on the Ohio, 4; on the Yazoo, 1; on Red river, 1. The loss of life by bursting of boilers, was 39, and it is stated to be much below the average of many years past. The number of boats afloat at the same time was 227. Of these, 88 were built at Pittsburgh, 61 at Cincinnati, 19 at Wheeling, 14 at Jeffersonville, 13 at Louisville, 10 at New Albany and the residue at various places.

THE Evansville Journal says: The Arkansas Belle broke sixty-four floor timbers and shivered the planks between them. The B. H. Cook has quit the Louisville and Leavenworth trade, and is on her way here. It has been rumored that she will enter the Evansville and Cannelton trade to fight the Dick Johnson. The Dick Johnson is liable to stay in the trade till the river freezes up. The Rhoads discharged considerable freight here, and added moderately. In coming in she grounded on the point of the reef, and stuck some time, and in backing out in the wind she grounded on the reef, but soon worked off. Joe Williams, one of her pilots, was sick, and his partner, Alex. Frazier, was hunting Sam Bristow to take his place.

WE are pained to hear of the sudden death of Capt Edward Evans, which took place yesterday morning. He came to town, and after transacting his business was about leaving for his home in Union township, when he fell down and suddenly expired. He was a well-known and popular boatman. He has commanded a number of boats, and was commander of the Westmorland, the last boat that left New Orleans on the breaking out of the rebellion. On her way up she was fired on at various places, but through the heroism of her commander and crew, was brought safely through, although the cabin was riddled with bullets. The only man that was killed was a rebel that was on the hurricane roof shouting for Jeff Davis, when a bullet from the shore sent him to his long home. Captain Evans was an excellent steamboat man and very popular. He was kind hearted and generous to a fault. He leaves a wife and five children and a host of friends who regret his demise. A good man has passed away.

New Beacon Lights and Changes.

The United States beacon light-tender Lily arrived from Pittsburgh at three P. M. on Friday, and landed at the foot of Vine street. The following comprise the new lights located and changes made during the trip of inspection to Pittsburgh and return:

Old-Time Boats and Boating.

The St. Louis Republican relates the following: Among the boatmen who figured prominently on the Western rivers, when they were navigated by the primitive steamers of forty years ago, Captain Pleasant Devinney is a well-known name. The principal part of his steamboating was done in the Illinois, where he learned to be a pilot with Captain Henry B. Steadman on the steamer America, Sam Harr being chief pilot. This steamer was formerly called the Cold Water. She had a square bow and stern, was sidewheel, drew eighteen inches light, and carried 150 tons. She plied between St. Louis and LaSalle, then known as Peru. First pilots were paid $75, and second $50 per month, captains $75 and clerks $35 to $40. There was a good deal of business, although the trade was in its infancy. The Ark and Jo Daviess were also running between St. Louis and La Salle, Captain Scribe Harris, now of Galena, being master of the last named. Captain Devinney afterwards piloted the Glaucus, Express and Fayette. Captain Reed commanded the Express. Captain Reed bought the Exnet in 1840 or 1841, and ran her in the same trade. She cost him, including repairs, $3,000. She was a sidewheeler of 150 tons capacity. He cleared $10,000 with her. Subsequently he built the Little Dove and bought the Big Dove, bought the Herald from Dawson, of Pittsburgh, for $5,500, bought the first Ocean Wave for $8,000, the Amazon for $15,000, and the first Sam Gaty. He and Captain Watkins built the New Lucy. In the progress of time he bought the Prairie City, Grace Darling and Washington City. At a later period he changed his base, engaging with Captain Louis A. Welton on the St. Mary, in the Missouri. The St. Mary was a packet of the Lightning Line, which met with disaster. From 1859, Captain Devinney did little in boating until the end of the war. He ran in the Illinois again when the packet line running to Peoria was in the hands of Belt and Brolaski and McCune. He appears sturdy and strong, owns three good farms, and is "well fixed" generally.

THE WEEKLY COMMERCIAL FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Every intelligent Farmer, Mechanic and Working Man, who is accustomed to read and think and act for himself, will desire to secure some reliable medium, in which he can obtain full information regarding the political issues of the Presidential campaign, upon which the country is about to enter. It is the intention to make the such a medium; and, in order to place it within the reach of all classes, it will be issued during the Campaign at the special rates given below.

The paper will support the nominees of the Cincinnati Convention, Hayes and Wheeler, and will use every legitimate means in its power to secure their election, and thus continue the administration of the functions of government in the hands of the Republican party—the party which saved the nation, and is, at this juncture, alone able and willing to have the Constitution and laws fully and faithfully executed, and the personal rights of all equally and impartially maintained, East and West, North and South.

While the paper will stand firmly by Republican principles, it will fairly represent the doctrines of the Democratic party, so that the reader can form a just estimate of its aims and tendencies. All the leading political issues will be fully discussed, and as the campaign promises to be one of the most exciting—as it is certainly one of the most important—in the history of the government, those wishing to keep fully posted should subscribe promptly.

All news of the week, together with choice miscellaneous reading for the family, will be found in the columns of the paper. Also, full and accurate market reports, giving the transactions in Pittsburgh and other leading cities, East and West—a feature of special value to the producer, consumer and dealer.

The Campaign Edition

Will be sent until the 1st of December, 1876, to any address, on the following

Continued Misfortune

Last week we stated that the house of 'Squire Falkenhagen, in Stowe township, with almost its entire contents had been destroyed by fire. What little of the furniture was saved was removed to the barn where Mr. Falkenhagen has been sleeping since, while his wife and children have been stopping with the neighbors until a new dwelling could be erected. On Saturday evening about eight o'clock the barn, too, took fire and was burned to the ground, with everything in it. One theory is that the fire caught from a stove pipe which was too near the partition; another, that it was of incendiary origin.

Too Much Whisky.

A boy aged about thirteen years, was found lying senseless in the gutter near the corner of Sixth and Carson streets, South Side, about ten and a half o'clock on Saturday. At first it was thought he was dead, but the event proved he was only dead drunk. He was taken to his house on Twenty-second street, sixteen squares away.

Michael Whalen was picked up at Oakland on Friday evening, suffering from an extreme attack of delirium tremens. He was taken to the West Penn hospital, where he died on Saturday afternoon.

The Waiter Girls.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

A new phase of evil has appeared of late in Pittsburgh, and perhaps other cities, namely, the employment of waiter girls in saloons. This has given rise to grave apprehensions in the minds of those who value the purity and well-being of society.

It is doubtless the policy of those engaged in the liquor business to counteract the good influence of the temperance movement. The craft is in danger. They are not satisfied with the daily sacrifices of fathers, sons and brothers; but call to their aid the daughters of the land, thus placing all that is pure and ennobling in womankind in jeopardy.

To this end, the saloon-keeper advertises for a number of respectable waiter girls, to attend to his customers. He pictures his spacious hall with its fountains and flowers, and costly furnishings, and bewitching music, as a perfect Eden of beauty. The inducement is money and pleasure. And once there, these unwary victims, daily become more and more entangled in his meshes.

And in these days of depression in business circles, it is not surprising that some through poverty, have lent a listening ear.

This is one of the outgrowths of the license system, which paves the way for the licensing of all kindred evils. Intemperance and prostitution, are twin sisters; and may this not be the initiatory step to the licensing, as has been done, in some places, of that terrible evil which is sweeping over the land as a moral pestilence. It is calculated to awaken in the mind the most fearful forebodings, and arouse every one to action. It is a time which should call forth all that is earnest in our natures, and should be a time of great heart-searchings to know what should be done. Can the mothers keep silent when their dear ones are in danger? Or shall they go forth as Deborah of old to battle with the enemy?

The saloon keepers' course is a most suicidal one. As the firing of the first gun on Fort Sumter aroused a slumbering nation from its indifference on the slavery question, so may all the women of the land be aroused in defense of that which is most sacred in their homes, and guard with jealous care anything which might be the stepping stone to this dreadful evil.

It is most gratifying to know that some of the daily papers in our city are on the qui vive in regard to this evil. It is time that men who wield an influence speak out boldly.

LEGAL NOTES.

Henry Linkner, the man now in the county jail, charged with the murder of his partner, Schaffer, in West Deer township, seems determined to have himself properly defended in court. On Saturday morning he gave a check to R. M. Gibson, Esq., for $2,000, as a retainer.

The firm of L. H. Evarts & Co., publishers of the illustrated history of Allegheny county, have instituted a number of suits before 'Squire Snodgrass, of McKeesport, against subscribers refusing to take the work and pay the eight dollars charged therefor. A number of the subscribers who have been sued have taken measures to appeal their cases to court, and it is stated that others will follow this course. Those who intend taking appeals thus far named are Samuel Hastings, W. K. McClintock, J. Knox, C. Klopfer and G. A. Lonneberg, all of the North Side. It is stated that at least forty persons who had agreed to take the work when the canvass was made refuse to do so since its publication, on the ground that it is not up to the representations made by the canvassers. These people say their names were given for the book with the understanding that it was to be equal in paper, letterpress, illustrations, etc., to "Picturesque America," but that so far from being up to the standard, it is made up for the most part of cheap views of farmers' houses and barns, paid for by the owners, and an imperfect outline of our local history.

The South Side Ablaze.

Brilliant Spectacle on Saturday Night.

Three Thousand Eight Hundred Men in Line—Superb Decorations—Carson, Sarah, Jane and Intersecting Streets, from the Suspension Bridge to Brownstown, a Living Sea of Fire—Boundless Enthusiasm.

Saturday night's spectacle on the South Side, while not so large as previous general parades, owing partly to the threatening weather and partly to the absence of several clubs at the McKeesport demonstration, was more brilliant in point of illumination and decoration. From the Smithfield street bridge to Brownstown, along the entire length of Carson, Sarah, Jane and Bingham and intersecting streets, scarcely a residence or place of business but was hung with wreaths, flags and Chinese lanterns, while in many instances the decorations were most elaborate. The letters H and W attached from Mr. Snyder's, 2402 Sarah street, formed from Chinese lanterns and swung across the street, had a fine effect. Even up on the hill side the illumination was continued until the entire east end of the South Side was a living sea of fire. So complete were the arrangements of the Chief Marshal and Division Marshals and their staffs, that the column moved very promptly. The route had been laid out with such judgment that one portion of the procession did not interfere with the other, while the broad avenues afforded ample opportunity for a display of the marching capabilities of the various clubs. The entire column marched in good order, the majority in sections of eight, several in sections of thirty-two, and occupied forty minutes in passing a given point. Along the entire route the dense throng on the sidewalks cheered lustily, while specially fine exhibitions of military precision attracted frequent ovations. The entire procession was creditable to all concerned in the highest degree, and proved an event that will long be vividly remembered by the people of that section of the city.

The order of formation and route of procession were as stated in Saturday's COMMERCIAL, and the fact that the rear of the column had reached the corner of Tenth and Bingham streets, the point of dismissal, by eleven o'clock, speaks volumes for the excellent conduct of those in charge of the parade.

The procession moved in the following order:

Advance Guard of 30 horsemen.

McKEESPORT'S DAY.

Saturday's Republican Jubilee — The Grandest Demonstration Ever Witnessed in the Borough.

McKeesport on Saturday, morning, afternoon and evening, was the scene of one of the grandest outpourings of Republicans, outside of the two cities, it has been our pleasure to record for many a day. From early morning until the hour appointed for the daylight procession, every train and every road brought throngs of people to witness the display. All the surrounding towns and districts sent their quotas to swell the multitude, yet despite the vast numbers the resources of the citizens were equal to the occasion. With true liberality, they hung out their latch-strings, and in the evening the visitors departed with only the most pleasant recollections of the event. It was truly a Union holiday, and McKeesport may well be proud of the staunch determination evinced last Saturday by the masses to keep the "solid South" from achieving by the ballot what they failed to secure by the bullet—the control of the nation.

Though occasional showers interfered with the programme somewhat, it failed to dampen the ardor of the citizens or visitors. The morning demonstration was a superb affair, there being over one thousand five hundred voters in line under command of Captain G. W. Gray.

In the afternoon Hon. J. T. Undegraff, of Ohio, and Hon. Thomas M. Marshall delivered powerful addresses to a vast audience.

In the evening a grand torchlight procession, including fully two thousand uniformed men from Pittsburgh, Allegheny and vicinity, took place. The total number in line is variously estimated at from 3,000 to 3,500. Fully four hundred men from this city were unable to procure transportation in time. The decorations throughout the town were magnificent, and the scene was brilliant beyond description, Captain J. F. Davitt was Chief Marshal. The Fourth ward, Allegheny, Pioneers acted as his escort. After traversing the principle streets the parade was reviewed by the Chief Marshall, and the visiting clubs departed for home, those from this section arriving in the city about mid-night. The entire affair was a grand success.

CASUALTIES.

A Man Crushed to Death by Car Wheels—A Woman Thrown From a Wagon and Seriously Injured.

A terrible accident occurred Saturday about noon on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Conemaugh, by which a man was terribly mutilated and injured so badly that he died in a few hours. It appears that while the Pacific Express was nearing Connemaugh the man in question, who was standing on the platform, by some means fell from the train and in an instant was under the wheels, which passed over his arm and leg, almost severing them from the body. The train was stopped and the wounded man was taken to Conemaugh, where everything possible was done for him, but without avail, as he sank steadily and died the same evening. Nobody seemed to know who he was, and as his baggage had been brought to this city, a telegram was sent to Depot Master Butler, requesting him to open his trunk in order to discover his identity. Mr. Butler did so, and to his astonishment made the discovery that the man was an acquaintance of his named Miner, a book dealer of Northampton, Massachusetts. The body will be taken to that place.

A very serious accident occurred Saturday afternoon, by which Mrs. Tyson, who resides near Sharpsburg, was dangerously, if not fatally, injured. She was going to market in a wagon driven by her brother-in-law, and when they had got across the Sharpsburg bridge, and between that and Butler street, the horses started up at a brisk trot. The wagon stuck some obstacle in the street, and both Mrs. Tyson and the driver were thrown out. The wheels of the wagon passed directly over the breast of Mrs. Tyson and she was very badly hurt. She was picked up and taken into a house near by, when she received proper medical treatment. At last accounts she was not in a condition to be removed to her home.

The McCandless Testimonial.

On the retirement of the Hon. Wilson McCandless from the United States Judgeship his many friends among the legal fraternity, resolving to present him with a testimonial of their esteem, decided upon tendering him with a handsome silver urn. The urn, wrought in the rennaisance style, is of coin silver, weighs 360 ounces and is about thirty inches in height. The design was chosen from several sent by Tiffany & Co., and reflects credit on the taste of the gentlemen upon whom the choice devolved. The base represents a shield supported by fasces. At the foot of the body of one side is an open law book and immediately above it, forming the chief figure, is a perfect likeness of the face of the Judge in profile. On the other side is the figure of Justice, and beneath it, on the body of the urn, the switch of the same goddess. The inscription, which will be as simple in language as possible, will be placed on the shield. Tiffany has been engaged on the urn for three months. The urn will be brought to the city and placed on exhibition, for a few days, in the course of a week, and shortly afterward the formal presentation will take place.

Ways that Are Dark.

Petty thieves, supposed to be part of the gang that has infested the hill wards for years, committed quite a number of depredations some time before daylight on Saturday morning. The cellar of Cornelius Strain, in Keaton's alley, Eleventh ward, was robbed of half a dozen mammoth loaves of bread; M. J. Farrell lost four pounds of butter; Mrs. McAdams, all her tomato preserves, and a neighbor, a crock of apple butter. All the above mentioned, except the first, live in adjoining houses, on Webster avenue and the alley. Hen roosts and coal cellars have suffered in the same neighborhood lately to such an extent, that it may not be safe hereafter for a midnight prowler to be detected. A stock of buckshot and bull-dogs has been provided.

OBITUARY.

Melancthon Williams Jacobus, D. D., LL. D.

A few weeks ago the community was pained and startled by the sudden death of the Rev. W. D. Howard, D. D., and on Saturday a similar feeling pervaded the city when the announcement was made that Dr. M. W. Jacobus, another eminent divine of the Presbyterian Church, had fallen at his post, with scarcely a moment's warning. The Doctor had been in his usual health, and able to attend to his customary duties as Professor in the Western Theological Seminary. He retired to bed at the usual hour Friday evening, and slept through the night. Saturday morning, between five and six o'clock, he awoke and complained of nausea. He got up, partially dressed himself, stirred the fire in his room, put on a dressing gown, and sat down in front of the fire. Mrs. Jacobus prepared a warm foot-bath, and in the meantime Drs. Rankin and Sutton were sent for. A few minutes afterwards he called to his wife, "Sarah;" his head fell upon his shoulder, and his life was ended. The sad intelligence was communicated to the more immediate friends of the family, and spread rapidly throughout the two cities, in which he was so well known and so highly esteemed.

Dr. Jacobus was born at Newark, New Jersey, September 19, 1866, and had recently completed his sixtieth year. He was a graduate of Princeton College, at the early age of eighteen taking the first honors. After an interval of a year at home, he entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton in 1835, and having completed his course, he was invited to remain as an assistant to Prof. J. Addison Alexander, in the Hebrew department. He acted in this capacity during an academic year. When the year was drawing to a close, he received a unanimous and urgent call from the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn to become its pastor. He accepted and was installed in the fall of 1839. In January, 1840, he was married to the eldest daughter of Samuel Hayes, M. D., of Newark, N. J. He labored successfully in Brooklyn during eleven years, in which time the church was well established as one of the most flourishing churches of the Presbytery.

In 1850, owing to failing health, his congregation gave him a year's vacation, which he spent in foreign travel. He went with his wife through Europe; into Egypt and Palestine and Syria, to Damascus, returning by Constantinople and Greece, and arriving at home in September, 1851, after a year's journeying among classic and Bible lands, to the great advantage of his health. During his absence, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, at their session in 1851, elected him as "Professor of Oriental and Biblical Literature" in the Theological Seminary at Allegheny Pennsylvania, and he entered upon his duties there early in the year 1852. In 1866 he made a second tour through Europe. As a pastor Doctor Jacobus was eminently successful, especially in Brooklyn, where his services received high commendation from the Presbytery of New York, when the pastoral relation was dissolved. It was as an author that the deceased was most widely known and appreciated. As early as 1848 he had prepared and published his first volume of "Notes on the New Testament," entitled "Matthew, with the Harmony." This volume was received with so much public favor, and with the Catechetical Question Book accompanying, supplied so important a need, that, in the Professor's chair, with larger and other materials from Bible lands, where he had made personal observation with advantage, he issued a second volume, "Mark and Luke," in May, 1853.

In 1856 he published a very valuable Commentary on John, and this was followed in 1859 with a still more elaborate Commentary on the Acts of the Apostles. In 1862 the Notes on the Gospels were republished in Edinburg, Scotland, by Messrs. Oliphant & Son. Their very extensive circulation in this country, and the great favor with which they were received in the churches, warranted the British publishers in this undertaking.

In 1864-5 the two volumes on Genesis were issued from the press of the American Publishers, the Messrs. Carter, of New York. They evince great labor and research, and in a brief space furnish a mass of material. And his special fitness for the latest work, where so many great questions were to be grappled, at the threshold of Divine Revelation, was already indicated by his review of "Bush on Genesis" in the Princeton Review.

In 1852 the degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Jefferson College, and he was honored with the degree of LL.D. by the college of New Jersey, in 1867.

He was Moderator of the General Assembly in 1869, the last session of the Old School body previous to the reunion. He presided at the great Assembly at New York, at the adjourned Assembly in this city, and also with his brother Moderator at the memorable Reunion Jubilee.

In addition to the works previously mentioned, he was the author of "Letters to Governor Bigler on the Common School System," in controversy with Bishop O'Connor, of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh; also of a tract on "Universal Salvation," published by the Presbyterian Board of Publication in Philadelphia: also of a public debate with Bishop O'Connor on the relation of the Romish Church to Free Institutions, and of a controversy with the Pittsburgh Catholic (the late Rev. Dr. Keogh) on "Indulgences"

In February, 1858, Dr. Jacobus was called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh (formerly the Fifth Presbyterian Church, which had been dissolved), and was mainly instrumental in building up that now flourishing congregation. He relinquished this charge some three years ago, owing to failing health, and took a trip to the Pacific coast, returning about a year ago. He has since pursued his educational and literary labors with unabated vigor, and gave all needful attention to other duties. He took a deep interest in the "Sustentation Fund" for the benefit of pastors having charge of financially weak congregations, and made an earnest address on this subject at the meeting of the Synod of Pittsburgh, held at Shadyside, some ten days ago.

The deceased leaves five children, three daughters and two sons. Two daughters are married—one to Rev. Matthew Vankirk, of Philadelphia, and the other to James B. Scott, Esq., with the firm of Park, Brothers & Co. The third, Miss Kate, remains at home. One son, Mr. Samuel H. Jacobus, is the financial manager of the Jacobus and Nimick Manufacturing Company; while the younger, M. W. Jacobus, Jr., is a student at Princeton College.

ACTION OF THE CENTRAL CONGREGATION.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Central Presbyterian Church of this city, held yesterday, at the close of the morning service, to take action in regard to the death of Dr. Jacobus, the following named persons were appointed a committee to prepare a minute expressing the sense of the meeting, J. P. Smith Wm. Lyon, James Atkinson, G. S. Head and J. M. Kennedy.

The committee reported the following paper which was adopted:

With profound sorrow this congregation has heard of the death of its former pastor Dr. Melancthon William Jacobus, who died suddenly at his residence in Allegheny city, on the morning of October 28, 1876. And while we bow in submission to the will of "Him who doeth all things well," we desire to pay a proper tribute to the memory of the eminent and beloved deceased.

In the death of Dr. Jacobus, the ministry has lost one of its brightest lights, the church one of its boldest and most successful defenders, the family its honored head and society a devout Christian. His life was an eminently successful one. Graduating at an early age and with high honors at Princeton College, he shortly thereafter entered the Presbyterian Church, and preached and labored in an eastern congregation with great acceptance for many years, and until he was elected professor in the Western Theological Seminary of our neighboring city of Allegheny. He came amongst us in the maturity and vigor of his full manhood, bringing a ripe scholarship; a mind naturally strong and thoroughly trained by the closest habits of application and study, a thorough knowledge of his profession, and an absolute devotion to the cause in which he was engaged; he filled the position to which he had been chosen with the greatest success and honor, continuously down to the time when he was summoned hence by the Master. In all these years, he was a leader in the Church, as author, teacher and preacher, ever ready to aid and strengthen her friends, and a formidable champion in her defense against the attacks of her foes, the founder of some of her most glorious enterprises, and the sharer of some of her greatest triumphs.

But it is chiefly to him, as pastor of this church and congregation, we would pay our tribute. This position he filled for a period of more than fourteen years, commencing in 1858, and those of us who sat under his ministry can bear longing testimony to the power, the progress, the influence and the prosperity of the church during that time. Truly the "Lord did guide him continually," and this his church was "like a watered garden and spring of water, whose waters failed not." During his pastorate he was performing his duties as professor in the seminary and writing those books, which will live after him and be an honor to his name, in guiding and assisting those in search of truth. His life was one of actual, active service in the cause of the Master; his work will testify that he wrought with labor and travel night and day, neither an idler nor drone, setting an example to the rising ministery of earnest and abundant service. He was called away suddenly from the midst of his usefulness and before age had compelled a relaxation from his labors. He continued to love and cherish his association with us until his sudden and lamented death. To us his Christian character was lovely; let his memory be blessed. At the time of his death he had served more years as pastor, with one exception, than any other then living in our two cities. An aged and lamented one having preceded him into the presence of the Master, only a few days, and in almost as sudden and similar manner.

The lives and the deaths of these, who, with others have gone to sit down with the patriarchs in the kingdom of God, are fraught with lessons to us. Let us remember the words of admonition of the lamented dead in his last sermon to us: "The fathers, where are they? and the prophets do they live forever? But our work as a church is not yet done. The field remains and widens as men pass away. Occupy it. God opens a path, but we must do the marching. His path is open only to those who go forward. One step at a time is all that God requires. Near by to Marah are the palm trees and wells of Elim, and just beyond is the blessed country, and the clusters of Eshcol are there for such, and such only as will go in and gather them."

To the stricken family we offer our sincere Christian sympathy and condolence in this the sad hour of their bereavement, and direct them to go for comfort to that source to which he, if living, would point them in all their troubles.

Captain Edward Evans.

We regret to announce the death of Captain Edward Evans, an old and well-known steamboatman, which occurred suddenly on Saturday morning, near his residence, in Union township, this county. Captain Evans had started from home to this city in his carriage, and had proceeded only a short distance when he was seized with a fit of apoplexy, which terminated his existence in a few minutes. The deceased had been engaged in steamboating on the Ohio, Missouri and Mississippi rivers for upward of forty years, commanding in that time some of the best boats on the Western waters. In 1860, if we recollect rightly, he took out the Westmoreland, a large boat which was built at Brownsville, Pa., which was the last boat that made a trip to New Orleans before the river was taken into the possession of the rebels. The last boat he commanded was the Exchange. He has been living a comparatively retired life for the past three years at his country residence in Union township with his family, consisting of his wife and five children, who are left to mourn his death. Deceased was in the fiftieth year of his age.

POLICE ITEMS.

Nathan Gallinger, the Penn avenue pawnbroker, while playing pool at 469 Penn avenue on Saturday evening, had a valuable overcoat stolen from him.

Ed O'Brien and Hugh Bennett were arrested in Lawrenceville on Saturday while engaged in slaughtering a sheep supposed to have been stolen. They will have a hearing.

Mrs. Baker, who keeps a shop on Butler street, between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets, was shot at twice on Saturday evening. John Syler was arrested on suspicion of having been the aggressor.

Two East End butchers were waylaid and beaten by three men, who were about passing them in a buggy on Penn avenue, near Thirty-ninth street. After giving them a severe drubbing, the trio drove away.

Slight Fires.

A burning chimney in one of Robert Marshall's houses, near the Clinton mill, South Side, caused an alarm about eight o'clock last evening, bringing out three steamers, four hose carriages and a hook and ladder truck. A High street chimney on fire, Saturday morning, gave a similarly useless journey to the fire department. Where the roof is wet, as in both the above cases, those having charge of keys should not give needless alarms. Why not extinguish the fires by hand?

SALE OF EXPOSITION BUILDING.

It is Bought in by the Mechanics' Lien Creditors at $8,175

The sale, by the Sheriff, of the Exposition Buildings took place on Saturday. After a description of the property had been read, several persons formally notified the Sheriff that they claimed certain articles in the building which he had no right to sell. Among these claimants was Mr. D. M. Jenkins, the well known tea man, who protested against his pagoda being brought under the hammer. Mr. Jacob F. Slagle also gave public notice that the title to these buildings was claimed by the Irwin heirs, the land belonging to them, and the buildings having been erected on it without their authority. The bidding then commenced. The first bid was five dollars, and was followed rapidly by others until the sum reached five or six thousand dollars, the subsequent bids being raised by a succession of $50 and $25 offers over the preceding ones. The bidders were Jacob H. Miller, for the mechanics' lien creditors; Commodore Kountz, Captain Wm. Ward, J. F. Slagle, Esq., on the part of the Irwin heirs, and C. H. Love. Mr. Slagle's highest bid was $6,700, his object being to purchase at a reasonable figure and avoid litigation. Captain Ward's highest bid was somewhere in the neighborhood of $7,000; Commodore Kountz's considerably less, and Mr. Love's $8,150, all the others by this time having dropped out, except Jacob H. Miller, Esq., to whom it was finally knocked down at $8,175. The actual purchasers are J. G. Weldon, J. H. Sorg and J. W. Batchelor, committee of mechanics' lien creditors.

Neither the Irwin heirs nor the plaintiffs (Moorhead and others) in the ejectment suit against the city of Allegheny, recently tried, in which they received a verdict which was affirmed by the Supreme Court, gave their consent, it seems, to the erection of the buildings. The Irwin heirs are certain that a portion of the buildings are on their undisputed property, and the rest on property which they claim. The Moorhead party claim that at least a portion is on their property, which they recovered in court.

The mechanics' lien creditors, who now own the building, are all creditors of last year, and were consequently first preferred creditors. The second preferred creditors are the mechanics' lien creditors of this year, and are less than half a dozen. The first parties, as soon as they had decided to purchase the building, had it insured for about one-half the amount of their claims. A further insurance will be had upon it to-day, the intention being to insure it for the full amount of their claims, $30,266 55.

The names of the purchasers, and the sums of their respective claims, are as follows: Robert Coward, $209 65; Jones & Laughlin, $87 72; A. Bradley & Co., $47 39; W. B. Lupton Co., $112 86; Samuel McCune, $160 65; Jarvis, Galpin & Co., $282 66; Union Planing Mill Company, $409 31; J. B. Sheriff & Son, $240 09; B. Willey, $24 91; Mitchell, Vance & Co., $9 28; L. M. Stevens, $532 83; Woods, Perry & Co., Cleveland, $136 85; Stevenson & Cartright, $148 15; South Pittsburgh Planing Mill Company, $160; Weldon & Kelly, $1,023 88; Chambers, Vandevort & Co., $611 33; National Tube Works Company, $1,041 94; Evans & Co., $33 79; Bradner & Hartman, $2,266 67; J. H. Sorg, $6,591 52; L. D. Patterson et al. $343 06; Atwood & McCaffrey, $979 59; Alex. Campbell, $826 85; Kopp & Voegtly, $214 64; B. F. Lynd, $182 94; R. Johnston, $187 95; Pittsburgh Chemical Tar Works, $472 99. Total, $30,566 65.

A meeting of the purchasers will be held shortly to determine upon the course to be pursued hereafter. They propose among the first things to apply for a new charter, and will likely change the name of the institution, but on this they have not yet made up their minds. The point over which they seem most exercised is how they shall keep the institution in the hands of trusty managers. As soon as they get their charter they will proceed to solicit and accept memberships under the same conditions as those of the old management, and in so doing they feel in duty bound to take any and everybody who may apply. It has been suggested that the institution be placed in the hands of a standing board of trustees, three from the mechanics' lien creditors, one from the stockholders and one from the life members. The purchasers say they will see every dollar of the other claims paid, provided the creditors can show that they are legally entitled to the money. They expect the undivided support of the business community in building the thing up. Messrs. Coleman, Mitchell, Vannote and James Johnston are said to have money in the institution yet in the respective sums of $10,000 on the part of the first two and $2,500 on the part of the others. They have filed no judgments, but the lien creditors say if they can procure the necessary vouchers they shall be paid off with other creditors, if the institution once gets in shape to pay profits.

The total amount of the claims against it, including those of the purchasers, is placed at $50,000.

THE DAYLIGHT DEMONSTRATION.

The Arrangements Being Made—Co-operation of the Ladies Invited.

The committee of fifty citizens appointed to make arrangements for the grand daylight Republican demonstration of Monday next met on Saturday afternoon at the headquarters, John W. Riddell, Esq., in the chair and Mr. Geo. W. Wilson acting as Secretary.

After interchange of opinions the following resolutions were adopted, and the committee adjourned to meet to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at two o'clock:

Resolved, That the Committee of Arrangements for the final demonstration of the campaign to take place on Monday, November 6th prox., do hereby earnestly request the Republican ladies of this vicinity to co-operate with us in promoting its success. To that end we would recommend that they meet on Tuesday next, at two P. M., at Lincoln Club Rooms, and organize committees for the preparation of wreaths and patriotic emblems for the use of the Republican marching clubs, and take such other action as they may deem appropriate.

Resolved, That an executive committee of three be appointed to aid in giving proper publicity to the foregoing, and in carrying the same into effect.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

GRAND RALLY AT BAKERSTOWN.

The meeting held last night at this point was large and enthusiastic beyond the expectation of the people themselves. The houses of all the Republicans were brilliantly illuminated and handsomely decorated. Among the houses which should receive special notice we mention those of Rev. W. E. Wade, Dr. Andrew Harper, Dr. J. H. Allen, Rev. J. T. Wright, John Wattell, Dan Morrow, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Brickell and many others whose names we could not learn. A torchlight procession with brass band preceded the speaking. The line was composed of the West Deer marching club, Captain Peace, ninety men; Farmer club, of Richland township, Captain Dickson, 125 men; the Middlesex Hayes and Wheeler club 130 men, horsemen 60 and citizens 180, and 120 ladies who marched in line and whose appearance created great enthusiasm. After the return of the procession to the front of the post office building, an audience of from 1,500 to 1,800 coming from Butler and Allegheny counties were addressed by S. M. Raymond, Esq., and John S. Robb, Esq., of Pittsburgh—the speeches were enthusiastically received and rapturously applauded—the issues of the campaign were discussed in an eloquent and forcible manner, and we predict that old Richland will be in line on November 7 "by a large majority" for the whole ticket.

MEETING AT PINE RUN.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Pine Run on Tuesday evening last. The officers were: President, Denny O'Neil; Vice-Presidents, Jac. White, J. S. Craft, Jas. Hamson, Wm. Messogney, Wm. Wilson, Wm. McKee, John C. Large, John Shulter, Wm. Ewing; Secretaries, M. E. Lynn and reporters of the press.

Able and interesting addresses were made by Hon. A. W. Fulton and John S. Robb, Esq.

REPUBLICAN MEETING AT SWISSVALE.

On Friday evening, the Republicans of Swissvale had quite a demonstration in their neighborhood in the shape of a torchlight procession, flag presentation and an enthusiastic meeting. The Wilkinsburg Hayes and Wheeler marching club and drum corps, Captain McKelvy, and the Swissvale marching club, Captain Dougherty, were out in strong force. An elegant flag was presented to the Swissvale club by Major John C. Paul, the presentation speech being made by John H. Kerr, Esq., and the response by Major D. B. Morrison, followed by three rousing cheers for the donor by the club.

This over, a meeting was organized in the school house, with Mr. Wm. Collingwood as Chairman: John McKelvey, John C. Paul, R. E. Sellers, R. S. Ramsey, A. H. Cummins, John Dickson and J. J. Walker as Vice Presidents and John F. Young, J. Swisshelm and J. W. McKelvey as Secretaries.

Mr. Kerr then addressed the meeting in an able and convincing speech, which was greeted with hearty applause. Mr. Aug. Steiner being present was called upon for a speech, and responded by making a strong appeal to his fellow working men to stand by the Republican ticket, and especially by those true and tried friends of the workingman, Russell Errett and John C. Newmeyer.

ROUSING MEETING AT NEW CASTLE.

On Saturday evening the Republican marching clubs of Lawrence, Beaver and Mercer counties held a grand jubilee in New Castle. An extra train of ten cars had been chartered, which carried delegations from Beaver, Rochester, New Brighton, Beaver Falls, Homewood, Clinton, Wampum and other points along the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad. Colonel W. S. Shallenberger, the Republican nominee for Congress in the Twenty-fourth district, and other gentlemen, addressed the assembled thousands. The Colonel is making hosts of friends among the Tildenites and Cooperites. His opponent, Mr. R. B. McCombs, is losing ground every day. He has been a Know Nothing, a Republican, a Liberal by turns, and now he straddles the Greenback and "reform" parties.

LARGE MEETING ON THE PERRYSVILLE ROAD.

A very large meeting was held on Saturday evening at Warren's hotel, on the Perrysville Road, near the Butler county line. Large delegations of farmers from Butler county and the entire country side attended in wagons. There were not less than one thousand people present. Dr. J. L. Davis occupied the chair. Able and convincing addresses were delivered by Hon. John M. Thompson and Hon. J. T. Grier, of Butler, and W. C. Stillwagon, Esq., of this city. The meeting was enthusiastic and successful beyond expectation.

GENERAL BEN. HARRISON AT THE ACADEMY TO-NIGHT.

This gallant standard-bearer of Republican principles in Indiana, arrived in the city on Saturday evening, but owing to exhaustion was unable to address the large throng that had gathered to hear him in old City Hall. He will, however, deliver an andress on the issues of the campaign at the Academy of Music to-night. All lovers of free and honest government are invited to be present.

A STRAW.

A vote taken on the First Day Express train east, October 25th, resulted as follows: Hayes, 182; Tilden, 72; Cooper, 6; total, 260. The ladies voted as follows: For Hayes, 79; Tilden, 21; total, 100.

NOTES.

A large Republican meeting was held at the White House in Perrysville on Friday evening last. Mr. Headley was called to the chair and was assisted by a number of Vice Presidents. G. A. Heidelberg, Esq., was elected Secretary. Addresses were made by Col. T. M. Bayne, John S. Lambie and Hon. John C. Newmyer, after which the meeting adjourned with cheers for the whole ticket.

A meeting of invalid soldiers and sailors of Allegheny county will be held at Republican headquarters, on Wednesday evening, to form a marching club to take part in the final daylight demonstration of the campaign on Monday, November 6th.

There was a big Republican time at Bellevue on Saturday. The Sewickley Marching Club, one hundred strong, were on hand, also a city brass band. Hon. B. C. Christy and Joseph M. Gazzam, Esq., were the orators.

The Republican demonstration at Monongahela city, in which the marching clubs of the city are to participate, is to take place on Saturday night next, not on Tuesday, as has been stated. Passenger Agent Rose will furnish special trains on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad for all who wish to participate.

GEORGE LAUGHLIN fell from an omnibus on Penn avenue, near Forty-fifth street, Friday evening, dislocating a shoulder.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House—"Brass."

The play of "Brass," by George Fawcett Rowe, in which the author assumes the leading part of Waifton Stray, will be produced at the Opera House this evening. The play attained much popularity in the East as a modern comedy of a lively and attractive character. The title is said to be descriptive of the prominent characteristic of the hero, whose sublime self possession under all circumstances, is one of the interesting features of the play. Miss Kate Fletcher will appear as the heroine, and Mr. Rowe will be ably supported by the stock company.

Library Hall—"Queen Mary."

Miss Augusta Dragon, who is not unknown to Pittsburgh theater-goers, is the star to-night at Library Hall. The performances of this lady in the legitimate drama this season have been such as to elicit the highest encomiums from the best dramatic critics, who very generally award her a position among the great tragic actresses of modern times. She opens, as we have already announced, in Tennyson's great drama of "Queen Mary," the performance of which in London attracted such worldwide interest that reports were sent of it by cable to this country. Miss Dargon is supported by a company of the best talent and most thorough training.

The Beethoven Society Concert.

Among the attractions of the week, a very choice one to lovers of the highest class of music will be the concert of the Beethoven Society at the Pittsburgh Female College on Friday evening. The concert will be conducted by Professor F. Zitterbart with Mr. C. C. Mellor as pianist. The programme embraces a choice selection from the works of Riedl, Wagner, Stigelli and Raff. It has been decided to hold the concerts of the Society this season at the Female College Buildings on Eighth street, as the available halls of the city are too large and not adapted to chamber music. We think that the arrangement is a good one and that it will be appreciated.

YESTERDAY being the Sunday nearest the 31st of October, the Lutheran and many other Protestant churches observed the day in special services commemorative of Luther's nailing the ninety-five theses against the door of the church at Wittemberg. LIFE is but short, but we should do all we can to prolong it. Check a cough or cold at once and use an old reliable remedy such as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

S. REED JOHNSON.

Wood Street, Corner of Liberty.

In mentioning the large establishment and elegant work done by S. Reed Johnson, in the way of printing, it is our pleasure to direct the attention of our readers to the beautiful calendars just out for the month of November; one, a card of perhaps eight inches square, the figures denoting the days printed in black, except the Sundays, which are in red, on a groundwork of soft, delicate tinge of brown, all surrounded by a narrow stripe of green, the shades of the different colors all selected to blend harmoniously; the other, a card of four inches long by about three wide, differing from the larger one in that the ground-work is a lovely shade of red.

Mr. Johnson originated the peculiar manner of dividing the columns and figures by white lines, instead of the imperfect black lines, as in using what printers style "brass rule."

The work of this house is excelled by no other in the city, and a complete stock of stationery and blank books constantly on hand.

Timely Suggestion Worth Heading.

Few are aware that the "Keystone Hotel Company," under the capable supervision of Colonel E. J. Unger, President, has opened a large elegant dining room and restaurant at the West Philadelphia Depot, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. T. R. Haley, Superintendent. Visitors to Philadelphia on business and pleasure can enjoy a nice quiet meal, and rest and refresh themselves before entering the city proper. The same happy arrangement exists at Jersey city, the termination of the New Jersey lines, under the care of Mr. C. V. Fedderson. The superintendence at both points is capital, and in keeping with the admirable supervision of President Unger, who conducts in person the Union Depot Hotel, and resides here.

MTh MARSHALL, KENEDYS & Co.

There is good reason for asserting that large purchases of arms have been made recently in this city by Southern dealers, and that there have been heavy shipments of rifles and revolvers to the South. The exact statistics of this traffic, of course, are very difficult to obtain, but of the general fact there is not much doubt. The impoverished and suffering South, which cannot afford to come to the Centennial, which is pressing countless claims for relief upon the Federal Treasury, and which cannot pay its debt, still has money enough left with which to buy weapons for the purpose of carrying the elections.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The Democratic vote of Indiana is generally about ten thousand smaller in November than October. Do you ask why? Because the Kentuckians across the river have to stay at home to vote in the latter month.

PENNSYLVANIA OIL REGIONS.

The Bullion Run District—Developments and Yield of the Wells in the New Territory—The Seaboard Pipe Line and the Writ of Quo Warranto—Some Views of the Standard Combination—How the Rival Interests are Regarded in the Producing Region.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.
PARKER CITY, October 28, 1876.

Any hopes which the bear faction may have had of permanent capital from the result of the new strikes on Bullion run, have been cruelly dispelled. The Shirley & Tack's well has drilled through the sand and made some small flows every time the tools were drawn, but if it results in a ten barrel pumper the well will far exceed the expectation of the owners at present. This firm own considerable territory, in the vicinity of the gusher, which they purchased in fee and have another rig up on it, but drilling will not be prosecuted until a well that Phillips Brothers are putting down is completed, which will test the territory between their new locality and that of the flowing well.

The Phillips' Brothers, new well also just completed on the Short's farm, is very little better than a dry hole.

In the meantime the gusher, which has been torpedoed, holds up to a production of over a hundred barrels a day.

The new Armstrong well, on the Davis lot near Queenstown, struck the sand and flowed about fifty barrels during Sunday. The well has been completed and is now pumping about fifty barrels a day. It opens up no new territory.

Weser & Co.'s recent strike, on the P. Duffy farm, is producing about fifteen barrels a day.

The Bradley well, on the Fletcher farm, is yielding daily in the neighborhood of fifteen barrels.

On the M. Sheakley farm the new Salisbury well is producing about fifteen barrels a day.

The Thompson well, on the John Starr farm, is pumping ten barrels daily.

On the Amos Campbell farm the Barton & Boyce well, just completed, is doing twenty barrels a day.

The new Say well, on the Jack property, near Greece City, has a daily production of about fifteen barrels.

On the James Campbell farm, the new Caldwell & Kline well is yielding about five barrels daily.

The Campbell & Leonard well, on the Washington Campbell farm, is finished and a dry hole.

On the D. Slater farm, south of St. Joe, S. R. Desser & Co. have just completed a well which adds another to the list of unsuccessful ventures for the month.

The new Prentice well, on the P. Duffy farm, is another dry hole, making eleven of this character completed within the last twelve days.

Tabor & Co.'s Potomski well, on the Craig farm, reported at the time of its completion in the special correspondence of the COMMERCIAL, is still doing about forty barrels. The owners of the well, not concealing its good qualities at the time it came in, and failing to secure leases of the adjacent territory, are now pretty well surrounded with derricks, owned by producers who are anxious to get a share in a fairly productive streak of territory. There are twenty-three wells drilling, almost in a line with Tabor & Co.'s well, between the Venture well, on the G. H. Gibson farm, and the Clark well, south of Martinsburg.

The drill in the Tom Cooper well, on the Stevenson farm, struck a vein of gas with some oil, in the second sand, on Monday evening. The gas ignited and at once set fire to the derrick, which was burned. The engine house was saved by well directed efforts of the employees at the well and other volunteer assistance.

The writ of quo warranto against the Pennsylvania Transportation Company has been the general topic of conversation during the week. Letters purporting to be written from the oil regions, have appeared in Pittsburgh papers, as well as in a small local sheet of quite limited circulation, published up the river in the interest of the Standard Oil Company, which have entirely misrepresented the state of feeling here among producers and all those interested in the oil trade in reference to the seabord pipe line. The gentlemen comprising the Standard ring are entirely misled by their agents and correspondents in this vicinity if they believe for a moment that the trade and the citizens generally are opposed, or even indifferent, to the success of the scheme. On the contrary, they are deeply in earnest on the subject, and the pipe line to the seaboard is not only sure to be accomplished, but also the breaking up of the illegal and unholy compact, between the railroads and the Standard Oil Company, which at present trammels the course of legitimate business with the ultimate object in view of monopolizing the entire trade.

In making purchases of territory in fee or procuring leases, they are compelled to employ agents not known as their representatives, and to transact business on 'Change through brokers who have no connection with the ring, but merely act temporarily for the agents of the Standard Oil Company, or for any other parties entrusting them with business.

Producers are asking why the Seaboard Pipe Line does not ask subscriptions for their bonds, and assert that the entire amount requisite to construct the line can be raised in the oil regions in a short time. One producer stated to your correspondent only yesterday that he was prepared to take $25,000 of the bonds himself, and that he knew none of his friends who would not take all in their power.

As a part of the plot of the Standard ring to kill the project of the pipe line to tide water, an effort has been made to crush out the Pennsylvania Transportation Company. It has not been successful, however, for if, as the organ of the ring alleges, there is no oil in the line, the question arises—when it is well known that the Pennsylvania Transportation line cannot ship their oil—what has become of the 105,143.45 barrels so recently reported as in their tanks under the sworn statement of the gauger and the gentlemen of the gauge committee?

One would suppose there must have been a Standard ring with its hand organs at the time when the sweet singer of Israel exclaimed, "I said in my heart all men were liars."

The Democratic policy in this campaign seems to be to pretend that the party is going on from conquering to conquest. They are "making belive very hard." Like a shabby-genteel family, they believe in keeping up appearances. From the very first they have bragged about "the banner of victory," just as though that much worn emblem were already in their grasp. And through all their successive disappointments they have clung to the shadow when the substance has eluded them. This requires a vivid imagination. But the Democrats who manage the Tilden campaign are men of an active fancy. —New York Times.
